$3,000,000 Alberni Fire Loss Feared

Douk Firebugs On Rampage In Thrums District

THRUMS, B.C. (CP)—The red glow of flaming barns lit the pre-dawn sky over this small Doukhobor settlement today as fanatical night raiders, striking without warning, put the torch to two farm buildings and were foiled in an attempt to fire a third.

Damage estimated at more than $7,000 was caused in the two fires, including the loss of valuable farm equipment, more than 50 tons of hay and a four-month-old calf. Both barns were burned to the ground.

ASK MORE PROTECTION

A fresh wave of terror swept across this West Kootenay district in the wake of the new attacks. Orthodox Doukhobors, nerves already stretched almost to the breaking point by the wild orgy of arson and violence in recent weeks, immediately launched new appeals for increased protection from the crazed firebugs.

It was the first time this year that the marauders had swooped down on this settlement some 20 miles west of Nelson, B.C.

Americas' Defence Zone Planned To Include Canada

QUITANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—A 14-power sub-committee of the Inter-American Conference today approved the creation of a "security zone" of the entire hemisphere, including Canada, Greenland, Alaska and Antarctica, to be defended by all American countries.

Greenland is the north Atlantic colonial possession of Denmark, on which the United States obtained bases under a wartime agreement.

The measure had the approval of the United States and was drafted by a smaller sub-committee to which Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.) belonged. Representatives of Mexico, Brazil, Peru and Bolivia were the other members.

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning announced today the Alberta government has signed the five-year tax transfer agreement with the Dominion government and forwarded it to Ottawa for signature by federal officials. It was approved by the legislature at last winter's session.

3 Die In Fire

SANDPOINT, Idaho (AP) — Three children burned to death today while their nine-year-old brother tried heroically to rescue them from a fire which roared through their home.

166 Polio Cases

British Columbia's poliomyelitis total for the year at noon today stood at 166, the Provincial Health Department reports.

Two new cases were reported, one, the first, from the Comox district, the other, the seventh, in the Chilliwack area.

Vancouver Island's total now stands at 15.

Deny A.F.L. Charge

TORONTO (CP)—E. R. Evans, official of the Canadian Congress of Labor, today denied a charge by the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union (A.F.L.), that the International Woodworkers Union (C.I.O.), was "disrupting organized labor" in the lumbering industry.

Towed out into the harbor midstream since her engines were powerless while steam was down, the British freighter Sampet was extensively damaged. The Port Alberni fireboat is shown in this aerial photograph pouring tons of water into the blazing ship while the fire is shown at its height on the wharf.

Greece Seen As Powder Keg That May Explode World Into Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Charles A. Eaton (Rep.-N.J.) of the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee declared today that Greece may be "the powder keg that explodes into World War III."

Taking a gloomy view of world conditions, the Canadian-born representative who helped draft the United Nations Charter, told reporters the United States "cannot afford" to permit Russia to dominate Greece.

Such a Russian conquest would be the beginning of a drive on Turkey and other countries bordering the Mediterranean and "from there they could go on to an attempt to conquer the world."

Eaton was a leading proponent of the administration's $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program designed to keep those two countries from falling prey to Communist pressures.

"We are right down to bedrock in Greece," Eaton said. "Both sides have served notice they will back their position to the limit. If neither backs down the consequences will be disastrous.

"The situation is as bad as primeval chaos could be. Nowhere is there a spirit of co-operation bringing the nations together to solve the common problems of all humanity."

The policy of the United States was based on a genuine desire to maintain world peace, but Russia on the other hand was pressing a philosophy "utterly alien to our way of thinking."

"They would not mind seeing the world in rubble because then they could rule over the rubble."

2 Suspects Held As Police Hunt Slayer In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A relentless police search forged ahead today as two suspects were held in the attempted bank-hold-up slaying of Sydney S. Petrie, 55-year-old manager of the Broadway Avenue branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The suspects, two of many taken into custody during the night, were held for questioning. The others were released.

Police plans to use bloodhounds were stymied when it was found none of the man-hunting dogs was available in local kennels.

The gunman, described as about 30, holding a newspaper before his face, fled after firing one shot.

Petrie, manager of the bank for 20 years, foiled a hold-up in 1930 for which he received a Bankers' Association citation and a gold watch. He was wearing the watch when shot.

The bank is located on West Broadway—also known as 9th Ave.—at the corner of Mackenzie Street in the Kitsilano Beach district.

COAT, VEST FOUND

Police found a man's coat and vest on a lonely road near the English Bay shore line, not far from where they earlier discovered a full clip of ammunition.

Mr. Petrie, a bank employee for 30 years, was shot in the abdomen when he pulled a heavy file over on the bandit, and he died in hospital about one hour later. The attempted hold-up took place just before closing time Monday afternoon.

One of those who witnessed the shooting was Rev. Norman Southcott, a life-long friend of the manager. He chased the hold-up man down the street, but the latter eluded him by dodging between houses and fled in the direction of Kitsilano beach. A gun, believed to be the bandit's, was found eight blocks from the bank.

Performer Killed

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Lloyd Blondin Rellins, 42, was fatally injured Monday night when he fell 75 feet from a high rigging on which he was riding a bicycle as a part of the Minnesota State Fair grandstand program. The accident was witnessed by 20,000 persons who crowded the grandstand.

Mainland Visitors Must Stay Out Of Schools Two Weeks

Children of Greater Victoria school district who have visited the mainland must remain out of school for two weeks after their return as a guard against the possible spread of poliomyelitis, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, stated today after a meeting of health officers.

He has so informed the Greater Victoria School Board, at the same time advising that the schools be permitted to open at the regular time.

He said the school board would be informed when the exclusion period is considered no longer necessary.

The polio situation in Greater Victoria remained unchanged today with four out of the five cases still hospitalized and progressing satisfactorily. One case, the first, has now been released from hospital as cured.

Governor To Speak

OTTAWA (CP) — Government House announced today Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, will address the 29th annual national convention of the American Legion at New York this Thursday.

City Council Discusses Steps For Rebuilding Big Government Wharf

PORT ALBERNI (Special) — The City Council of this west coast lumber city, acting while flames still licked the sagging piling and warehouses of the virtually demolished government assembly wharf, today had initiated steps to have the all-important wharf rebuilt.

The wharf, 950 feet long and 150 feet wide, to which a $140,000 extension was being built, was swept by a fire Monday night which caused damage expected to rise as high as $3,000,000. The fire was described as the worst industrial blaze in the history of Port Alberni.

Beside the wharf, valued at about $800,000, the British freighter Sampet was almost completely destroyed, along with 1,400,000 board feet of lumber and 600 tons of plywood.

At a meeting Monday night, Mayor W. C. Hamilton told the City Council that the more than $1,000,000 loss in the fire could have a "partially paralyzing" effect on this community.

"It is imperative that we act quickly and that all red tape is slashed," he told the council, while the fire was still raging.

The council is to be in readiness to meet with any local or government group on the project of rebuilding the wharf.

Mayor Hamilton noted that a great portion of the cuts of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Co. Ltd. and the nearby Alberni Plywoods Co. plants, both subsidiaries of the H. R. MacMillan Export Co. Ltd., were shipped by the government assembly wharf.

The city itself now has no wharf at all, he said. (The Canadian Pacific Railway Company wharf burned last May 24 and is now in the rebuilding stage.)

The only existing docks are at the A.P.L. sawmill and the Bloedel, Stewart & Welch Ltd. saw mill. Both are fully used by the companies.

Other Districts In Canada Swept By Forest Fires

By CANADIAN PRESS

Forest fires raged in various parts of eastern Canada today, threatening settlers at some points in Quebec and Nova Scotia, while in British Columbia damage was counted in millions from two industrial blazes and there was a new flare-up of Doukhobor-set fires in the Kootenays.

Reports from Rouyn, Que., told of miners, woodsmen, farmers and their wives joining in a continuous battle against scores of fires in northwest Quebec's Abitibi district. Shelbourne, on the south shore of Nova Scotia's Jordan Bay, again was threatened for a time until the fire was checked there. Ontario lumber operations were suspended in the Kirkland Lake area because of forest fires.

In northwest Quebec scores of timber fires were out of control in a 15-square-mile area east of Rouyn. The homes of miners and colonists were being threatened and fire-fighting became the personal concern of settlers and their families. Many have gone sleepless for nights fighting the flames.

WIND DIED DOWN

Reports from Shelbourne said that a fire threatening that tiny fishing settlement in Nova Scotia had been checked after the wind died during the night. Additional fire-fighting equipment arrived at the scene from Halifax.

Ontario had timber fires in Nordica township west of Kirkland Lake, where firefighters were mobilized from Cochrane, Matheson, and Swastika. Operations of all lumber companies were suspended because of the fires, caused by the licking up of several lightning-started blazes.

Commonwealth Talk Of Peace Pact For Pacific Under Way

CANBERRA (CP) — After a short formal opening session, the Commonwealth conference on Pacific problems settled down behind locked doors today to the business of shaping the British Commonwealth's plans for the Pacific peace.

At the formal opening session, Canadian delegate Brooke Claxton called for a "positive and dynamic" peace, with equality between countries as between individuals.

Prime Minister Chifley opened the conference on the Japanese peace settlement with all delegations present except the Burmese, expected tonight.

PAKISTAN TO BE HEARD

H. V. Evatt, Australian External Affairs Minister, was elected chairman of the conference, at which Pakistan and Burma were to be represented for the first time as independent units at a meeting of British Commonwealth members.

Mr. Claxton, Canada's Defence Minister, said holding of the conference here "fittingly recognizes the part played by Australia in the Pacific War. The attendance of the Canadian delegation is an indication of Canada's interest in Pacific affairs.

"Canada's strategic position as a Pacific power—we have a long Pacific coastline—and our interest in foreign trade as the third largest trading nation in the world make the establishment of political and economic stability in the Far East vital to us.

Ottawa Asked To Make Full Probe

Meanwhile John Gibson, Independent member of Parliament for Comox-Alberni, has wired federal Works Minister Alphonse Fournier, demanding an immediate investigation into the blaze.

Members of the fire marshal's office are still attempting to uncover the origin of the fire.

Two firemen, James McGregor and John MacFarlane, were injured in the blaze fought by every available piece of fire-fighting equipment for miles away.

McGregor, a member of the Port Alberni volunteer fire department, suffered extensive burns to the left arm while MacFarlane, a truck driver, sustained a spinal injury when struck by a falling timber while fighting the blaze on the dock.

McGregor was released from West Coast Hospital late Monday night but MacFarlane was held there today although his condition was described as not serious.

The pair were attended by Dr. J. E. Ross.

Beside the wharf, the ship and the lumber burned, three Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway gondola cars, loaded with lumber, a Union Pacific railway flat car, were lost, along with a Brute crane, about 60 feet high, and valued at about $65,000. The crane toppled over into the blazing debris at the height of the fire.

The 38-man crew of the Sampet, powerless beside the dock when the fire broke out, reached safety by swimming ashore after the vessel had been towed out into the harbor.

Crew Risked Lives To Save Cars

Heroic train crews risked their lives to tow 12 cars from the flaming dock.

Standard Oil storage tanks, less than 100 yards from the searing flames, were untouched as was the nearby Alberni Pacific mill, one of the largest on the Pacific coast.

The fire was probably the most spectacular in the history of Port Alberni and damage was exceeded only by that of a huge forest fire in 1923.

While cause of the fire is unknown it is believed the blaze started in the plywood warehouse.

The fire started at 6.20 p.m. and within a short time the creosote piling of the wharf was burning. Eventually all but 150 feet of the south end of the dock was destroyed.

Shortly after the fire got a hold on the wharf it jumped to the Sampet, 10,000-ton British ship loading lumber at the wharf.

Powerless without steam, the vessel, all but obscured from observers by the smoke and flames leaping 100 feet into the sky, was finally tugged into mid-stream.

Today the ship is low in the water, almost completely destroyed.

Tons of water were poured into the burning, blackened hull and onto the deck load of blazing lumber by the city fireboat.

The ship is owned by the Haynes Steamship Co. of London, Eng.

In the cargo burned was a considerable quantity of plywood.

Ironically, a $140,000 extension to the dock, designed to provide much-needed extra loading space, was nearing completion when the fire struck the wharf. The extension was being built by the B.C. Bridge and Dredging Co.

Both Port Alberni and Alberni volunteer fire departments, aided by many men recruited at the fire, battled the blaze far into the night.

The wharf was still burning today and the fire will have to be closely watched during the next few days.

Observers commented that had a brisk north wind been blowing instead of the customary southerly breeze of the evening, the plywood plant and the A.P.L. sawmill would have been threatened.

[illegible] quantity of lumber was piled between the wharf and the plants.

Third Serious Fire This Year

The fire was the third serious blaze in Port Alberni this year. During the winter the Somass Hotel fire caused damage of $100,000, while on May 24 the C.P.R. wharf was damaged by a $50,000 fire.

A bush fire on May 25 did $50,000 damage on the property of the Bloedel, Stewart & Welch Co. Ltd. at nearby Great Central Lake.

The extremely heavy traffic to and from the fire on the highway approaches to Port Alberni resulted in four minor auto mishaps, in which cars went into ditches.

Firemen Today Play Water On Smouldering Ruins Of Alberni Pier

Investigation To Seek Source Of Up-Island Blaze

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Firemen today continued to play streams of water on the fire-ravaged ruin of the $1,500,000 government assembly warehouse and wharf, while out in the harbor stream, the Ss. Sampet, 10,000-ton British freighter, lay low in the water, almost completely destroyed.

Damage to the freighter Sampet, registered with Haines Steamship Company of London, England, is not expected to be known until completion of a survey late today. The vessel was valued at $1,000,000, it was reported.

Members of the fire marshal's office still were attempting to uncover the origin of the blaze.

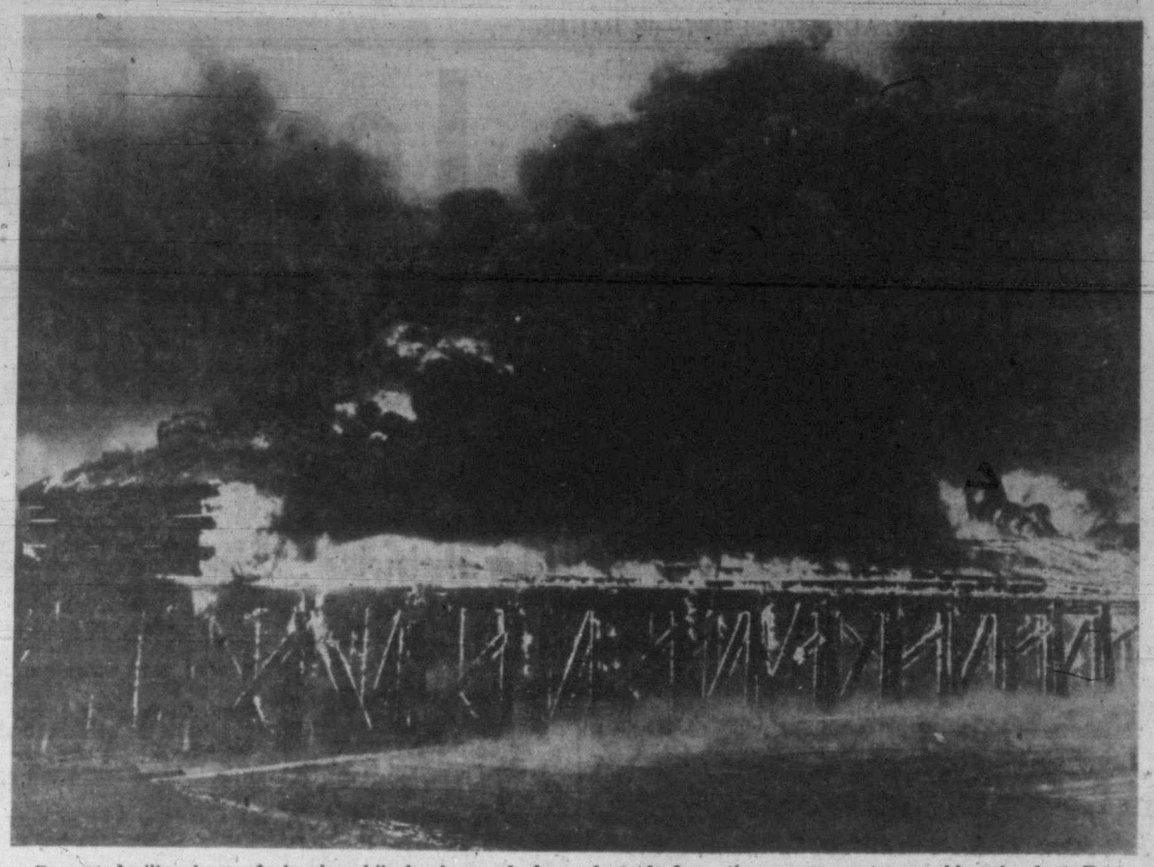
Standard Oil storage tanks, less than 100 yards away from the searing flames, were untouched as was the nearby Alberni Pacific mill, one of the largest on the Pacific Coast.

Spectators watched the pathetic sight of pigeons striving to get to their young in nests under the burning wharf. They watched them drop into the water as they got too near the flames.

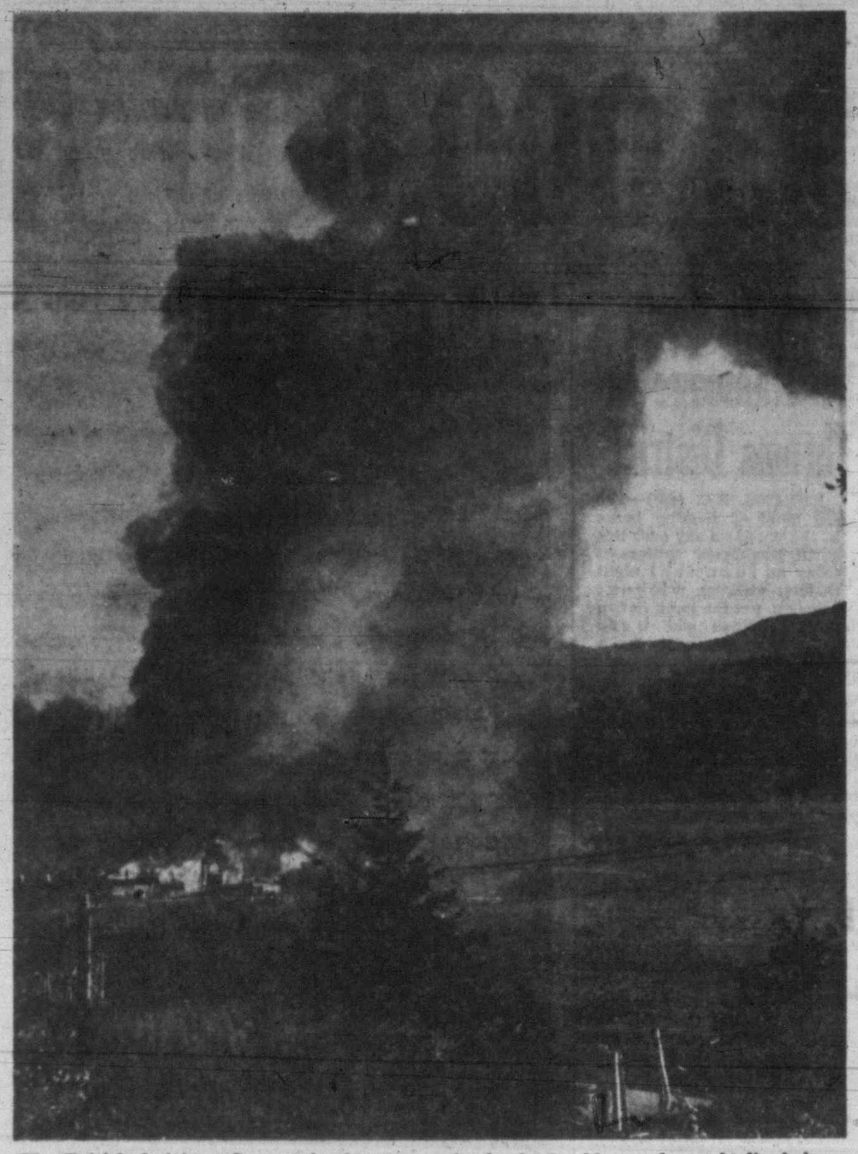
Volunteers tried to get a flat car loaded with lumber away from the flames, by using a small locomotive. When the lumber caught fire they pushed the car back into the inferno, in order to save the ramp.

About 7 o'clock in the evening, less than an hour after the fire started, the government owned derrick which is approximately 40 feet high, went under the water as the dock gave way.

Mayor W. C. Hamilton of Port Alberni commenting on the fire said: "This is a severe disaster. The wharf is the life-blood of our district."



Creosoted piling burns furiously while lumber and plywood stacked on the government assembly wharf at Port Alberni is enveloped in flames.



The British freighter Sampet is almost completely obscured by smoke as she lies helplessly at the dock, without steam to turn her engines, while tugs are rushed to pull her out into the harbor.

A burning inferno of lumber and piling, the wharf here is shown at height of the fire.

A $65,000 crane, used in loading lumber aboard ships, is shown here toppling into the flaming debris that was the Port Alberni government assembly wharf.

Stacks of lumber on the shore are ignited and burn furiously while firemen battle to prevent the blaze from spreading to nearby buildings and more lumber piles.

While smoke and flames go billowing high in the sky, railway crews worked heroically to remove these carloads of lumber to safety from the wharf.

Security Council Again Asks Dutch, Natives To Quit

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The Security Council called on Holland and the Indonesians today for the second time to cease fire in the East Indies hostilities. The vote was 10 to 0, with Britain abstaining.

The action was taken as a result of violations of the original United Nations' cease-fire requested Aug. 1 and ordered into effect by both parties at midnight Aug. 4.

Two other colonial powers — France and Belgium—had joined Britain in abstaining on the Aug. 1 request for a cessation of fighting.

Earlier today the Indonesian Republic had officially informed the United Nations that it accepted Security Council decisions calling for career consul reports from Batavia and an offer of the council's good offices in the East Indies dispute.

Holland had not officially replied.

The consuls would report on hostilities since the council's Aug. 1 call for cease-fire and the good offices would be used to bring the disputants together for further negotiations.

Sutan Sjahrir, former premier representing the republic here, said he had asked his government in Jogjakarta for instructions regarding the Indonesian selection of one country for the mediation group.

Underground Radio Urges Jews To Hit Britain Economically

JERUSALEM (AP) — Irgun Zvai Leumi, militant Jewish underground group, exhorted Jews throughout the world Monday to "hit Britain economically without mercy" in protest against the trans-shipment of 4,400 Jewish refugees to Germany.

In a broadcast denouncing British treatment of the refugees, who were intercepted in mid-July while trying to enter Palestine illegally aboard the Ss. Exodus of 1947, Irgun declared:

"You can stop the cruel British machine forever. Do not pay your tax money, do not obey their orders. Do not obey their laws Boycott, boycott, boycott until the end.

"Jews of the whole world can bring great harm to our enemy. Britain is in economic trouble. They can be hit economically without mercy."

The Irgun broadcaster also urged Jews to ignore appeals for a hunger strike today to protest treatment accorded the refugees.

"This is no time for fasting," he said. "It is now time for war."

CUNNINGHAM TO LONDON

British sources, meanwhile, reported Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, High Commissioner for Palestine, was weighing the possibility of leaving for Britain tomorrow to confer with the government concerning the fate of the refugees.

These sources said Cunningham was "generally regarded as holding somewhat different views than some of his fellow officials on the situation," but did not eloborate.

The refugees in question are en route to Hamburg aboard three British transports after spending more than three weeks anchored off Port de Bouc, France, where they refused to disembark in protest against being denied admission to Palestine.

The Jews originally embarked for Palestine from a French port, and France had offered them asylum if they would disembark voluntarily at Port de Bouc. Britain has now proposed that she transport them overland from Hamburg to the French border and that French officials accept them there.

France has not yet replied to this proposal.

Greek Liberals Not Joining Cabinet As Requested By U.S.

ATHENS (AP) — The Liberal Party of Themistokles Sophoulis, 86-year-old former premier, refused Monday night to join a new government under Constantin Tsaldaris.

Sophocles Venizelos, co-leader of the party, announced the decision after a two-hour party conference.

Participation of the Liberals had been sought by the United States, which has pledged $300,000,000 in supplies to Greece as a part of the Truman plan against totalitarianism.

Tsaldaris, leader of the Populist, or Royalist Party, was Foreign Minister and the most active member of the Demetrios Maximos cabinet which fell Saturday. He said earlier today he hoped to form a new government by nightfall "on as broad a coalition basis as possible."

The United States embassy conveyed to Sophoulis its wishes that the Liberals participate.

On Saturday and Sunday afternoons 11 new fires broke out in the Vancouver forest district, which includes all Vancouver Island. Three of these are still burning but under control.

During the week-end forest fire fighters put out a total of 18 blazes, including eight near Nanoose, and one each on Valdez Island and near Stamp River.

Looking dejected, screen actress Carol Landis wonders what she should do next. She was stalled at the pier in New York City when a sudden longshoremen's strike forced cancellation of the scheduled sailing of the liner America. Passengers had to carry away their own luggage. Many of them succeeded in arranging passage on other liners.

Nova Scotia Legislature Asked To Vote Finance Plan

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Angus L. Macdonald asked a special sitting of the Nova Scotia Legislature today to ratify a five-year Dominion-Provincial financial agreement which he said offered his province a minimum of roughly $10,900,000 annually.

But still not satisfied with the Dominion's approach, he repeated his previous declaration that the agreement was temporary and "purely financial."

He also repeated his demand for annual Dominion-Provincial conferences and used this opening to suggest the provinces should be consulted in the current Canadian - Newfoundland Confederation discussions.

MORE FOR HEALTH

Finally he gave some hint of how the province was going to spend its revenue, which he said would be higher "than if we did not sign an agreement."

Health and welfare services would get increased grants, additional "large sums" would be spent on highways, teachers' minimum salaries would be increased from $900 to $1,200; departments of industry, publicity, lands, forests and agriculture would expand their scope and activity and soon Municipal Affairs Minister J. M. MacQuarrie would confer with representatives of the province's municipalities "who have been seeking a discussion on their postion."

However, the Dominion had indicated it would not bear as large a share of the social security program as it had first proposed.

"In other words," said the Premier, "while the Dominion gives us more money with one hand, it plans to pay out less with the other, and if the plans are to be realized, the provinces must make up the difference."

He introduced three bills which would give effect to the agreement and it was taken for granted his overwhelming 28-2 Liberal majority would assure passage of the legislation in two or three days.

Most Legislature circles expect the House will prorogue either tomorrow or Thursday.

Ratification of the agreement by the Nova Scotia House would leave only Quebec and Ontario still without financial agreements with the Dominion.

PER CAPITA GRANT UP

Reviewing his province's long-drawn out battle with the Dominion, the Premier said the federal government had agreed:

1. To increase the per capita grant from $12 to $15.
2. Give the province the subsidies it had formerly received.
3. Abandon the gasoline tax field.
4. Vacate the amusement and pari-mutuel field.
5. Recognize the principle that certain fields of revenue should be left exclusively to the provinces
6. To hold a general conference with the provinces at least one year previous to the termination of the proposed agreement.

Speaking of legislation which would give effect to the agreement, Mr. Macdonald said the annual minimum payment of $10,870,140 was made up of $8,865,000, the total for 591,000 Nova Scotians at $15 a head, and $2,005,140 in statutory subsidies, including interest on debt allowance.

Nova Scotia promises that during the term of the agreement neither the province nor municipalities will impose income taxes, corporation taxes or succession duties.

An act which complements the main act, provides that a corporation income tax of 5 per cent be imposed on such part of the income of corporations as is attributable to their operations in Nova Scotia.

Life More Christian, Says Douk Convert With 3 Husbands

SHOREACRES, B.C. (CP) — Slim, blonde Marie Shlakoff, 20, brought up as an orthodox Doukhobor, today had proclaimed herself a member of the radical Sons of Freedom branch of the sect and the simultaneous wife of three of its members.

The comely girl, who worked as a nurses' aide in Nelson and Calgary hospitals until her "conversion" two years ago, said she had abandoned the life of a normal Canadian because she "loved to be free." She was proud of the fact she had three husbands.

"I admit that it is hard for anyone to understand our beliefs and ideals. My main reason for joining is my love of freedom. Now I can disrobe if I feel inclined without any feeling of shame or embarrassment. God intended that we should be free and only here do I have that freedom.

HARD LIFE

"We do not lead an easy life here. It is hard, but we enjoy it because we feel that it is the right life. We do not want to possess anything ourselves. That is why we can never possess a husband in the normal sense. I have three husbands, yet I would never try, or want, to hold any one of them against his wishes.

"To me life is more Christian —and much happier—than when I lived as a normal Canadian girl."

Her declaration, made while members of the radical branch roamed sections of British Columbia terrorizing more conservative Doukhobors—11 of the Sons were sentenced Monday to six months to one year for assault or uttering verbal threats to burn dwellings—opened a new chapter in the turbulent career in the sect's history.

Multiplicity of wives or husbands seldom is found among the orthodox members, largest section of the 17,000 Doukhobors. A woman having more than one husband is not common even among the Sons of Freedom, although some of the male members have more than one wife.

ANTWERP, Belgium (CP)—The Beaver Glen, first ship of the Canadian Pacific Steamships fleet to come to Belgium since the war, docked here Sunday.

Island Doukhobors Deny Being Cause Of Fires, Rioting

Joseph Podvinnikov, spokesman for Michael (The Archangel) Verigin, leader of a newly-established colony of Doukhobors at Hilliers, B.C., Monday denied his group had anything to do with disorders in Kootenay Valley.

The Trail Times published a report that the reign of terrorism was directed through the Sons of Freedom by the Hilliers group, and that the Doukhobors were taking orders from a foreign power.

"It is the first we have heard of it," said Podvinnikov to the Canadian Press in a telephone interview.

"The report is absolutely wrong. We have warned of the danger of the uprising."

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — The Trail Times said Monday that it had learned from a reliable source that the reign of terrorism in the Kootenay Valley is directed by a group of Doukhobors which recently established a colony on Vancouver Island.

"It was hinted that the Doukhobors are taking orders from a foreign power," the newspaper said.

It also reported that a delegation of "Communist minded" Sons of Freedom, a radical group blamed for the disorders, had left for Russia.

The Times said its informant was a Castlegar, B.C. businessman, a non-Doukhobor, who refused to allow himself to be publicly identified.

The Vancouver Island colony was recently established at Hilliers, B.C., 37 miles north of Nanaimo, under the leadership of Michael Verigin, 64-year-old descendant of Peter (The Lordly) Verigin, who brought the Doukhobors from Russia nearly half a century ago.

In a statement Saturday, Verigin blamed the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood—the orthodox Doukhobors, for the disorders.

He warned that "fatal reactions will result" and may "constitute a threat to the whole country" unless immediate steps are taken to halt the terrorism.

TORONTO (CP)—New prices for Chevrolet and Oldsmobile automobiles, ranging from $61 to $288 higher went into effect Aug. 19, General Motors dealers disclosed here Monday. Increased cost of production is the reason given.

An Oldsmobile sedan is now $61 higher, while the cruiser model goes up by $134. Increases on Chevrolet cars ranged from $83 on the four-door sedan to $288 on the special de luxe model.

Pentrelew Sold To Truth Centre

Pentrelew, the former home of the Crease family, recently sold at auction, has been purchased by the Victoria Truth Centre, according to an announcement made to the congregation last night by Rev. Emma M. Smiley, pastor.

The 23-room dwelling, situated on one and a third acres at 1201 Fort Street, was sold at auction Aug. 4 to a realtor for the sum of $13,500.

Miss Smiley was unable to say what the dwelling would be used for in the near future. She declined to say whether the building would be used as new headquarters for the Victoria Truth Centre.

"We haven't decided what to do with the home yet," she said. "We expect to come to a decision soon."

SERIOUS SETBACK

LITTLE INFORMATION WAS AVAILable as this was written to indicate the extent to which the $3,000,000 fire and loss of the government wharf at Port Alberni would tie up lumber shipments from this largest timber exporting centre on Vancouver Island. It appeared obvious, however, that the disaster which struck the up-island centre last night would seriously affect the flow of essential construction materials to various parts of the world. The severity of the blow to the economy of the fast-growing city was implied in a short statement from Mayor W. C. Hamilton. "The wharf," he said, "is the life-blood of our district."

No effort should be spared to restore the facilities destroyed by fire. Reconstruction seems imperative not only for the sake of a community which has forged ahead during and since the war days, but for those distant centres which depend heavily on the amount of lumber which comes from Vancouver Island to meet their building needs.

Pending further investigation, no statement has been made regarding the origin of the blaze which called forth the efforts of virtually all able-bodied men and women in Port Alberni and Alberni to fight it. Despite their labors, however, the wharf is gone, and the flames which claimed it have inflicted serious damage on a British ship already partly loaded. This is a tragic reverse for a city which has won general admiration for its vigor and progressiveness. It is also a grim reminder of the care which must be taken to avoid fire at this season. Whether the conflagration occurred from human carelessness or was the result of unforeseeable circumstances, it nevertheless underscores not only the destruction of physical assets but the disruption of industry through this ever-present menace. If it has no other constructive feature, it should serve sharp warning on all other communities to redouble their efforts to avoid a similar mishap at a season when dangers from this source are extreme.

WHAT IS POSITIVE?

CANADA IS BEING TOLD THAT HER attitude toward immigration is negative and that that of Australia is positive. This charge is laid by the Vancouver Daily Province. Our esteemed and able mainland contemporary goes on to say that the southern Dominion "wants a million immigrants as soon as it can get them and hopes for a population of 20,000,000 within two generations."

Canada, too, wants a million immigrants as soon as she can get them and likewise hopes for a population of 20,000,000 within two generations. What the Vancouver newspaper does not tell its readers is just how the two overseas Dominions of the Britannic Commonwealth are going to add anything like hundreds of thousands of new citizens to their sparse populations within the time stipulated. It is easy to criticize, easy to tell the authorities at Ottawa that they are asleep at the migration switch, and much easier for the Vancouver paper to be negative than to be positive in its complaint—which derives largely from its political antipathy to Mr. King's administration.

Has the Province not observed from the reports in its columns that Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, already has made arrangements for bringing suitable prospective citizens by plane from various parts of Europe to this country? And our contemporary, if nothing else, is assuredly aware that the shortage of shipping is a vital factor in hindering the east-to-west movement of peoples from the Old World. It would be insulting its editorial intelligence, moreover, to jog its memory about the difficulty Britons have in persuading the government at Westminster—which, incidentally, wears the identical Socialistic stripe worn at Canberra—to allow them to take more than a comparatively few pounds out of the "tight little isle". Britain needs every worker, every skilled artisan, every man and woman to increase the productivity of the farm, the factory, and the mine for her own salvation.

What must seem strange to the readers of the Vancouver Daily Province, however, is that it suggests by inference that a government at Ottawa should follow the immigration policy of the Socialist regime of Australia. And what does our contemporary mean when it says: "The Australian government appears to have more faith in the Commonwealth's destiny than the Canadian government has in the Dominion's"?

Frankly, we do not know the answer, regardless of its obvious implications. Australia, of course, is governed by an administration which possesses the legal machinery enabling it to "push its workers around." So has Great Britain. Does the Vancouver newspaper—whose antipathy to Liberalism in general needs no emphasis here—suggest that the Chifley or the Attlee system be tried in Canada to hasten a "positive" immigration policy?

FRAUGHT WITH DANGER

A GLOOMY VIEW OF THE GREEK SITUation is presented by Chairman Charles A. Eaton of the United States House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, in his statement that "We are right down to bedrock in Greece. Both sides have served notice that they will back their position to the limit. If neither backs down the consequences will be disastrous." The Republican Congressman from New Jersey, who, incidentally, was born in Canada, sees possibilities that Greece may prove to be the "powder keg that explodes into World War III," and he says that Russia fears an upset less than the democratic allies do, for the reason that "they would not mind seeing the world in rubble because then they could rule over the rubble."

There should be no effort to minimize the serious implications of the Balkan situation if proper recognition will aid in finding a solution. The intentions of a long-range Soviet plan appear to be coming to the fore as a result of the setting up of a so-called "people's" government in northern Greece under Communist auspices. The embassies in Athens maintained by Russia and her satellite states today are manned only by night watchmen and janitors: the diplomatic officials have withdrawn in a carefully manufactured huff. The way is therefore paved for Russia to widen the breach with Greece and grant formal recognition to the militant Communist regime in the mountain villages of the north.

Adding to the complexity of the problem is Greece's current difficulty in forming a government. Liberal leader Sophoulis insists that he be given the post of Prime Minister, since Constantin Tsaldaris has been unable to form a coalition cabinet within the past three days. That the Greek government heretofore has laid itself open to criticism from a liberal standpoint is not to be denied, and the present re-shuffle may provide the opportunity to rectify this. But the situation is such that not many days, or even hours, must be permitted to elapse without the formation of a durable, liberal administration which can successfully cope with the Communist threat.

MEANS OF CORRECTION

THE IMPRESSIVE FIGURES CITED BY Mr. S. R. Smith, newly-arrived director of British Columbia's restored Borstal system, to prove the effectiveness of this method of dealing with wayward boys will be lost on none who look hopefully to the establishment of a corrective plan for those who have strayed and have been caught. Few have any desire other than the rehabilitation of youthful offenders. But results of incarceration under prevailing systems have been anything but encouraging. Mr. Smith, however, is able to report results of a survey which showed that over a 10-year period 65 to 70 per cent of those given Borstal treatment had re-established themselves to the extent that they had become involved in no repetitive crimes once they had been released.

That is an imposing figure. It will be recognized, of course, that it represents the product of a specialized class that should not be confused with the habitual criminal. And therein lies the chief merit of the plan which Attorney-General Wismer is working to restore in British Columbia. The main purpose, as we understand it, is to prevent the mingling of those who have made a slip with those who have pursued crime as a career and who, under other prison systems, frequently find willing students for their particular specialties among the ranks of callow youths committed for the first time.

Any boy or young man can make a slip. But if, as the result of a fall from grace, his chances of restoring himself to good citizenship are minimized by non-corrective punishment, society stands to lose a potential asset. We do not suggest that too great leniency should be extended to the culprit who seldom, if ever, is sentenced without good and sufficient warning for previous misdemeanors. The element of punishment must persist as a deterrent to others. But it is important to follow a course which permits rehabilitation of a young man who has learned his lesson and who desires to return to the ways of decent citizenship. The report of Mr. Smith indicating that the British experience with the Borstal system has facilitated that reclamation in 65 to 70 per cent of the cases under its jurisdiction is a strong argument for New Haven—and justifiable grounds for hope in its success.

PROMPT AND DRASTIC

THE ADVICE TO CHINA TO "EFFECT immediately drastic, far-reaching political and economic reforms" is not new. But its publication during the week-end by Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, President Truman's fact-finding emissary in the Orient, underscores a condition in the country of the fifth member of the Big Five which sooner or later must be corrected. As General Wedemeyer says, "Military force in itself will not eliminate Communism," and the appeals of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for further military aid from the United States are likely to fall on increasingly deaf ears. There is much political housecleaning to be done in China if that country is to play its rightful part in the democratic world.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

CASE HISTORY

IF YOU WANT a case history of what is wrong with the United States government, consider the row between the U.S. Maritime Commission and the State and Commerce Departments. The cause of the hullabaloo is the Maritime Commission's hankering to toss the policy of the United States of America into the wastebasket, in order to gratify the smooth lobbyists who infest its corridors.

On Aug. 15, the Maritime Commission's genial, bemired chairman, Admiral W. W. "Poko" Smith, sent a telegram to every company chartering government-owned ships. This means practically the entire shipping industry. The telegram announced that all charters on these ships were to be cancelled as of Aug. 31. Charterers of government vessels were to be allowed to carry on, subject to conditions to be announced later. The main condition was to be an increase in the charter rate—the rate which private shippers pay to the government for the Liberty, Victory, and other ships which they operate.

THE INTENTION was to force many of the chartered ships off the seas, and thus increase freight rates. Shipping rates began to slump this spring, and have gone well below their highest levels. Some shippers have been, indeed, operating at a loss. But this has been largely a paper loss. Under the Maritime Commission contract with the shippers, the U.S. government has in effect been underwriting 90 per cent of any operating loss in most cases.

Even so, the shipping companies have not enjoyed the new rates. Frazer Bailey, president of the National Federation of American Shippers, forcibly brought this fact home to Smith and the other spavined political hacks who now compose the Maritime Commission. The result was the Aug. 15 telegram, which was dispatched without consulting any policy-making American official.

THE INNOCENT-SOUNDING TELEGRAM attracted little attention at first. Then, as officials in the State and Commerce Departments began to study its real meaning, the storm clouds began to gather about good old "Poko's" head. The experts were of the unanimous opinion that raising freight rates and forcing many American ships off the seas would result in downright disaster.

As far as domestic policy is concerned, the move would have an inflationary effect. The administration is, of course, committed to a battle against inflation. But its impact on American policy abroad would be a great deal more serious. A very high proportion of the dollar spending of the western European countries goes to paying for the shipping which carries what they must buy to home ports.

BEFORE THE RATE SLUMP, for example, of every $20 which the French or Italians paid for the desperately needed coal, an average of $12 went for carrying the coal across the ocean. The proportion of transport charges on wheat and other bulk cargoes was not much less. Thus it is hardly surprising that unofficial but nevertheless exceedingly plaintive Macedonian cries were instantly emitted by both the French and the British to American representatives in Paris and London.

Another sufferer from the order would certainly have been the Maritime Commission itself. Something very like chaos already reigns at the commission.

The business of cancelling and reissuing charters would have made the chaos complete.

CONSIDER THIS STORY, and you will observe that the case history contains every element which prevents U.S. governmental efficiency. First, there is patronage. In its wartime guise as the War Shipping Board, under Admiral Emory Land and Capt. Granville Conway, the commission was a model of efficiency. President Truman actually promised to name Conway chairman in succession to Land. But the party chieftains, with their incessant clamor for pork and patronage, changed his mind. The result is the present body.

Then, to patronage, add special interest pressure. The influence of the big shipping people in the commission's passion for restricting tonnage and raising rates is only too obvious. One would, indeed, respect the whole transaction more if there were any evidence that the commission had yielded for some return, rather than from sheer, silly flabbiness. Then, to special interest pressure add total lack of co-ordination. A major step is taken affecting all policy without so much as notifying the policy-makers. Such are the elements of American difficulties.

THERE IS REASON to believe that Smith and his colleagues have now been badgered and beaten into reversing their stand. This presumably proves the rule that Americans always save themselves in the end. It would be cheaper, however, to begin a little sooner.

Quoting

It becomes unmistakably clear that here in Japan we shall win the peace. — Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The problems of labor and management can be analyzed and settled as surely as those of world peace—by men sitting around a table talking things over. But they must be men whose attitude is right.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Drift From The Farm

By JAMES H. GRAY, From Winnipeg

FIGURES now being released on the results of the 1946 census of the prairie provinces show very clearly that the drift from farm to city still persists. In addition, both Manitoba and Saskatchewan lost population, while the slight gain registered in Alberta was less than the natural increase.

The drift of the people off the farms into cities, and out of the prairies, began with the depression and instead of diminishing continued through the war years. The census estimates 248,000 persons left the three provinces between 1931 and 1941. Between 1941 and 1944 another 125,000 pulled out. In the next two years the loss was 100,000.

LOSING GROUND

The natural increase in population, even with the great rise in the birth rate of the war years, was unable to counter-balance the migration, though it helped substantially to maintain population levels. Here are the provincial figures for the last two census:

	1941	1946
Manitoba	729,000	726,000
Saskatchewan	896,000	833,000
Alberta	796,000	803,000
Total	2,421,000	2,362,000

Alberta was the only province to show an actual population increase. Without the loss suffered by migration (Alberta lost 56,000 in the half decade), its population would today approximate 860,000. In Alberta the drift from farm to city was more pronounced than in the other provinces. Its cities and towns gained 48,000 while the farms lost 40,000.

GOING URBAN

In Manitoba the urban population rose from 322,000 to 337,000 between 1941 and 1946 while the farm population dropped from 408,000 to 389,000.

Saskatchewan registered the whopping drop of 85,000 in its rural population, from 601,000 to 516,000 while its urban population rose only about 12,000—from 295,000 to 317,000.

If the farms of western Canada can't hold their population in a half decade of unparalleled prosperity, what is going to be the ultimate result? Questions come easily, answers come very hard, indeed.

One indisputable fact is that the trend is still to larger farm units. These population losses were accompanied by almost no loss in farm acreage. In Saskatchewan, the number of occupied farms dropped almost 10 per cent during the period. But sown acreage was down only 1 per cent. The farms are getting larger and larger while the farmers become fewer and fewer.

MECHANIZATION

Behind this, of course, is the continuing process of mechanization of farming. The horse population of the prairies dropped almost 20 per cent in the period. The use of the combine decreases the need of horses on one hand, and makes the cultivation of larger areas more economical on the other. Pasture once needed for horses is now given over to cattle. And more and more farmers are raising chickens and turkeys and keeping bees. In Saskatchewan alone the number of bee hives doubled between 1941 and 1946, now total 26,000 hives.

Social factors plus the war have also affected population. The young men who went from the farms to the armed forces, are not going back. While the war was on, many a serviceman's bride moved into the cities and towns and found life more attractive. The war plants attracted farm girls, and city women in search of maids scoured the countryside.

In 1941 males outnumbered females in the cities and towns of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Now the women exceed the men in the urban settlements of all western provinces.

LIVING IN TOWN

Still unmeasured, as a factor in the social life of the prairie is a comparatively new development. There is a growing inclination, in some areas, for farmers to live in the towns rather than on the farm. There they can enjoy such amenities as electric lights and inside plumbing and convenient access to schools and stores. They can reach their farms, by car or tractor, in less than 15 minutes. That is less time than it would have taken, in the old days, to drive their horses to the back concession. In winter, they escape the weeks of isolation and loneliness that come with blizzard-blocked roads and cold weather.

Whether this inclination will ever become a trend is, of course, impossible of forecast.

Mr. Gromyko Is Unchanged

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

THE U.N. Atomic Energy Commission has abandoned all hope of progress toward agreement on atomic energy control until another calendar year arrives. The Soviet delegation remains adamant, and nothing in the way of discussion or suggested compromise by the Commission's majority will budge it.

Only the other day Andrei Gromyko gave the United Press a restatement of the Soviet position in answer to an article by Frederick H. Osborn, deputy American representative on the Commission. The explanation was full of weasel words, but it was evident that Mr. Gromyko still thinks everybody is out of step except Russia.

NO CHANGE

The amazing thing about this article was that, after all the thousands of words that must have been spoken in the Commission meetings, Mr. Gromyko's thoughts seem to be precisely where they always were.

He calls the Soviet proposal "the only correct approach" to the problem's solution, although all the nations on the Commission except Russia's shadow, Poland, take the opposite view.

He still insists that the majority-adopted United States plan would give the U.S. "a position of monopoly in the field of atomic energy," although anyone who can maintain an open mind while reading must see that it wouldn't.

WITH VETO

He still insists that any atomic energy control system must operate within the Security Council, complete with veto. He takes the position that the U.N. Charter is incapable of amendment, and that elimination of the veto would "undermine the foundation on which the entire edifice of the United Nations rests."

Yet Mr. Gromyko must surely know why the American control plan eliminates the veto. He says again that unanimity of the five permanent Security Council members must be operative in "all questions of substance having relation to the maintenance of that peace."

JUST A PHASE

Winnipeg Free Press

Eventually the natural channels of trade across Europe probably will open themselves when the present period of economic lunacy passes, but that time is not yet and Russia is postponing it as effectively as possible.

All this is old stuff. That very fact is what makes the situation so discouraging. Perhaps Mr. Gromyko, as a dutiful Communist, does not dare or wish to deviate an inch from the line of conduct set for him.

ALTERNATIVE

This leads the United States, as the strongest power opposite Russia, to adopt a line of action which it might not prefer under happier circumstances. Surely the American people want no atomic armament race or any monopoly if an adequate system of control can be set up. However, neither they nor any other realistic nation would want to trust themselves to the Russian system, which leaves the matter of atomic energy uses and controls to the good faith of individual nations.

It is not necessary to go over the abundant examples to suggest that good faith is not the most notable feature of Russian foreign policy. Therefore it becomes doubly necessary for the American government to try to maintain its supremacy in the atomic field with all possible vigor, and to guard with extra care whatever "secrets" it may still possess.

Global Survey

By JAMES D. WHITE

A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

When Lt.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer wound up his fact-finding mission to China for President Truman he left behind a public statement that contains this significant paragraph:

"To regain and maintain the confidence of the Chinese people, the central government will have to effect immediately drastic, far-reaching political and economic reforms. Promises will no longer suffice. Performance is absolutely necessary. It should be accepted that military force in itself will not eliminate Communism."

This is mostly a pointed rewrite of what Gen. (now State Secretary) George C. Marshall said early this year when he abandoned his efforts to mediate the Chinese civil war.

It is important, however, because an American official now is telling the Chinese government to clean itself up in even stronger terms than Washington has been using to tell the Greek government to "snap out of it."

The fact that China and Greece represent critical focal points of Soviet-American tension in Asia and Europe further suggests a similarity in treatment from the American standpoint.

The Wedemeyer statement makes no promises of aid to China such as the Truman doctrine has produced for Greece. However, that some kind of aid for China is in the offing can scarcely be doubted — assuming, of course, that the Chinese government cleans itself up.

That this aid would be directed in the end partly against the Chinese Communists cannot be doubted either. Wedemeyer's mission consulted no Communists (publicly, anyway) and although it travelled widely it did not enter Communist-held territory, which includes most of Manchuria, a good portion of China and perhaps a quarter of the Chinese population.

As Nanking constantly refers to the Communists as rebels and bandits and has set a price on the head of Party Chairman Mao Tze-tung, the Communists could hardly be expected to enter Nationalist territory to talk to Wedemeyer.

FLAYED CORRUPTION

Further, although Wedemeyer flayed government corruption and inefficiency, he did not directly question the leadership and policy of that government which has been waging civil war against the Communists.

If the Wedemeyer statement thus points the general direction of American policy in China along lines parallel to those being pursued in Greece, an important question arises:

Can the two countries be treated the same?

Greece is unalterably a small power, with about 50,000 square miles of territory and 6,000,000 people.

China's vast bulk stretches over 5,000,000 square miles and her half-billion citizens constitute, for all their internal differences, the oldest and largest segment of the human race.

The eight-year war with Japan, through which the Chinese variously fought, died, starved, collaborated or loafed—but never surrendered as a government or a people—is a measure of their insistence upon running their own show, however badly.

The government of such a country must weigh its need for help from outside against the loss of face involved at home if it should accept that help on the indicated terms.

The servicemen at college seem to recognize they will need all the mental equipment possible for holding their own in the competitive world ahead. Unlike many prewar college Joes, they are not on campuses for good times, social status or contacts. Even if they should be disillusioned as to what their sheepskins can do for them when they are on their own, they will find themselves strongly reinforced by what they did for themselves during the college years.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE

Exchange

Clearly it is no easy job to keep a public eating place up to standard, yet the large numbers who patronize these places have a right to expect the utmost in cleanliness. What happens when laxness is permitted has been shown in recent reports of revolting conditions in some New York and Toronto establishments. Only constant attention to all aspects of cleanliness by caterers and by civic officials can ensure that the public interest is being served.

First Annual Tea Realizes Over $500

A sum of approximately $500 was cleared at the first annual tea sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Aged Women's home last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Percy E. George, wife of Victoria's mayor, officially opened the affair at 3 o'clock and from then until 5, hundreds of visitors were served at tables centred with vases of summer flowers and set on the Collinson Street lawn at the home. Suitable recordings of music were played during the afternoon. The sorority plan to make this tea an annual event for the Home.

Napoleon Bonaparte originated the idea of odd and even house numbers for different sides of the street.

Return From Salt Spring Honeymoon

Making their home in the city following their honeymoon on Salt Spring Island, are Mr. and Mrs. George Leveridge, who were married Aug. 9, in the chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, with Rev. T. L. Leadbeater officiating.

The former Miss Edith Adams, Winnipeg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams of Victoria, and formerly of Moose Jaw, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white gabardine suit, fashioned with "fishtail back," and white floral hat trimmed in navy blue, with white accessories and corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. E. Shepperd, who was smart in beige, tailored on dressmaker lines, with white accessories and corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mrs. G. E. Leveridge, Moose Jaw, was attended by Jack Leveridge.

A reception followed at Strathcona Hotel, where Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Leveridge assisted in welcoming guests, many of whom were former residents of Moose Jaw. Jack Leveridge proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier cake, flanked by lighted tapers, and vases of pink carnations, centred the table.

Chemainus Wedding Of Interest Here

Of wide interest in Victoria was the Saturday afternoon wedding at St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Chemainus, when marriage vows were repeated by Miss Frances Irene Millard and CPO. Howard Edward Ward Southin, before Rev. A. E. Longfellow.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Baden Millard, Chemainus, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Southin of the city.

A gown of corded silk made with sweetheart neckline small puff sleeves, and gathered skirt was worn by the bride, given in marriage by her father. A coronet of orange blossoms held her full-length veil, and she wore her groom's gift, a single strand pearl necklace. An orchid surmounted her prayer book from which cascaded white satin ribbons and tiny rosebuds.

Blue whispering taffeta was worn by maid of honor, Miss Doreen Southin, sister of the groom. Miss Grace Cavalsky, as bridesmaid, chose an old rose gown with satin bodice and full net skirt. Coronets of sweet peas fashioned their headdresses and they carried mixed Colonial bouquets.

Little Dorothy Millard, sister of the bride, was gowned in blue voil, the bodice and skirt embroidered with dainty pink flowers. She carried a small Colonial posy of pink roses.

Jim Peerless stood with the groom, as best man. Ushers were James Jameson and Ray Millard, brother of the bride.

A reception followed at Small Hall, where E. Peerless gave the bride's toast. Mrs. Millard and Mrs. Southin assisted in receiving guests. Silver vases of pink and white stocks and carnations formed the setting for the three-tier cake. Serviteurs were Misses Margaret Robinson, Elinor Brown, Betty Erickson, Chris Syme and Maxine Elliott.

CPO. and Mrs. Southin will make their home in Victoria, following their honeymoon trip in Vancouver and Seattle.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a smart blue suit, with brown accessories and orchid corsage bouquet.

Ilma Simpson Wed In Bridal Satin

Gleaming white bridal satin, designed with long fitted bodice, sleeves pointed over the wrists and full skirt, fashioned the gown worn by Miss Gwenneth Ilma Mary Simpson, youngest daughter of Mrs. G. E. Simpson, 1107 View Street, when she became the bride of Donald William Thomas Ross, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Toronto, Ont.

Laurence G. Simpson gave his sister in marriage. She chose clusters of fresh flowers to hold her circular veil, and wore her mother's gift, a three-strand pearl necklace. Her powder-puff bouquet of white carnations and heather was showered with red roses.

Identical white satin gowns, fashioned with bouffant net overskirts, keyhole necklines, and long sleeves, were worn by bridesmaids, Miss Maureen Simpson, sister of the bride, and Miss Jean Vallance. Both wore ribbon bows in shades of mauve in their hair, and carried powder-puff bouquets of pink roses and white gladioli.

LS. George Mannix was best man for the groom and ushers were PO. Edgar Carter, cousin of the bride, and CPO. David Rimmer.

Mrs. Simpson assisted the bride and groom in receiving guests at a reception at the Hard of Hearing Hall, Douglas Street. A silver vase of sweetheart roses topped the three-tier cake, wreathed in the same flowers, and crystal candelabra held white tapers. R. C. Simpson proposed the toast to his niece.

The couple are honeymooning in Vancouver and Seattle, and will return to the city to make their home. The bride traveled in a brown dressmaker suit, with white accessories, and corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and heather.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean read the nuptial rites for the quiet ceremony Saturday evening in the vestry of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Akehurst gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. D. McConachie, matron of honor, wore a two-piece wool frock in pearl grey, with large open-crowned hat of navy taffeta and corsage bouquet of rosebuds. Dave McConachie was best man.

Summer flowers decorated the home of the bride's parents where the couple, assisted by Mrs. Akehurst and the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. McMillan, New Westminster, received guests. A three-tier cake, gift of Mr. and Mrs. D. Lovett, was cut by the bride and groom, and the toast was proposed by Sgt.-Maj. W. A. Wright.

Peggy MacDougall, Alf Corcoran Wed

Early Monday morning marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Mary Anne "Peggy," eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacDougall, Elm Creek, Man., and James Alfred Corcoran, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Corcoran, 1940 Greatford Place, at a nuptial mass celebrated by Father J. L. Blanchfield at St. Andrew's Cathedral.

James Clohosey, uncle of the groom, gave the bride in marriage. Silver grey accessories were striking with the bride's tailored suit of rich plum gabardine, with hat to match. Her prayer book was topped with gardenias and sprigs of white heather knotted in white streamers.

Miss Helen MacDougall came from Vancouver to attend her sister. She chose for the occasion an aqua gabardine suite, smart with white and brown accessories, and corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and swansonia.

The groom chose as best man, his brother, Joseph Corcoran. Charles Nash, his brother-in-law, seated guests.

A wedding breakfast followed at Strathcona Hotel, where a three-tier wedding cake, surmounted with a wedding bell, centred the table. Clyde Caldwell gave the bridal toast.

The bride added a silver-grey three-quarter length topcoat over her wedding costume, for the honeymoon trip by motor up-island. Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran will reside in Victoria.

Conserves Improve Meat Dishes

Add nuts, raisins and cherries to orange conserve.

Conserves heighten the flavor of meats.

ORANGE CONSERVE

Three and one-half cups prepared fruit, 2½ cups sugar, ⅔ cup finely-chopped nutmeats, ¼ cup chopped raisins, ¼ cup chopped cherries, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

To prepare fruit: Remove skins in quarters from 5 medium oranges and 1 medium lemon. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about half of white part. With a very sharp knife, cut remaining rind into fine shreds. Add 1½ cups water and ⅛ teaspoon soda. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for just 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip pulp out of each section. Add pulp, juice and 1 cup sugar to cooked rind. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes longer. This cup of sugar is in addition to the 2½ cup specified above. Measure sugar in dry dish. Measure prepared fruit into a 3 to 4-quart saucepan, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary; place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, add nuts, raisins and cherries, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, ¼ teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 2 minutes. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once. (Makes about 7 glasses, 6 fluid ounces each.)

SPICED DAMSON PRESERVES

Five pounds Damson (or any tart) plums, 4 pounds sugar, ½ teaspoon ground ginger, 4 cups water.

Wash plums and prick several times (with a fork) to pierce skin. Simmer remaining ingredients together about 3 minutes, then add plums, one by one. Cook until fruit is soft, syrup thick. Fill hot sterilized ½-pint jars. (Makes about 5 half pints.)

Some Points On Pickling

The right pickle adds greatly to almost all supper dishes as well as to both hot and cold meats. Pickles are mentioned in Pliny's Writings, as "spiced and preserved cucumbers" and Cleopatra is said to have been very fond of spicy pickles, so the liking for fruit and vegetables preserved in vinegar is not a recently acquired taste.

Peter Piper was more fortunate than the home-maker. He is supposed to have picked his peck of peppers all ready pickled. Pickling, however does not need to be a heavy task, nor does it present much difficulty if a few rules are observed.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture have definite suggestion to offer for overcoming some of the common difficulties in pickle making.

Hollow pickles may result from allowing cucumbers to stand too long after picking. For success in pickling only fresh, good quality vegtables and fruits should be used. Cucumbers and green tomatoes are best if put into brine within twenty-four hours of picking.

PROPER BRINE

Soaking in brine helps to keep the vegetables firm during the succeeding pickling process. Common bag or dairy salt should be used. Salt which has been treated to make it free running causes cloudiness in the brine. Iodized salt will cause a brownish scum or sediment to form.

One cup salt to 2 quarts (10 cups) water makes a good brine. If not enough salt is used pickles will be soft or slippery. If too much salt is used they may shrivel or become tough.

Good quality, clear vinegar is essential if pickles are to have good flavor. Both cider and blended vinegars have good flavor but white spirit vinegar gives better color where light colored vegetables such as onions or cauliflower or pears are used. For uncooked pickles the vinegar is used full strength. If vinegar is too weak the pickles will be soft.

Spices should be used with discretion. A dark color or bitter flavor may result from too much spice. Whole spices are preferable but should be tied loosely in a cheesecloth bag.

Most pickles are best if allowed to stand at least a month before using in order that flavors will be well blended.

Here are two good recipes for pickles. Many others are given in the bulletin Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables which may be obtained free of charge by writing the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

NINE-DAY PICKLES

Cut up 5 quarts cucumbers. Place in brine (1 cup salt to 2 quarts water) to cover, for 3 days.

Put in cold water for 3 days, changing water each day. Put in weak solution, 5 cups water to 1 cup vinegar; add 1 tablespoon alum. Boil cucumbers in this mixture 5 minutes; remove, drain and put in crock.

Boil 3 pints vinegar, 3 cups brown sugar, 1 ounce allspice, 1 ounce cinnamon (powdered or sticks), 1 ounce celery seed and pour hot over pickles. Drain, reheat and pour hot over cucumbers each morning for 2 additional mornings. Bottle and seal. Yield about 5 quarts.

BARBECUE SAUCE

Two quarts tomatoes, cut in pieces; 2 large onions, chopped; 2 large cloves garlic, chopped; 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; ¾ cup sugar; 1 cup vinegar; 2 tablespoons horseradish; 1 tablespoon salt; 1 teaspoon paprika; 2 teaspoons dry mustard.

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Simmer over low heat for about 30 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Yield: About 3 pints.

Olive-Gelatin Whip

Choose whatever fresh summer fruits you wish and combine them with ripe olives for this colorful "Olive Gelatin Whip Salad." Mayonaise is molded right along with the other ingredients so you may serve the salad with or without additional dressing.

Three-quarter cup ripe olives; 1¾ cups hot water; 1 household size package gelatin; flavor with orange juice; ⅔ cup mayonnaise; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1½ cups diced fresh fruit; salad greens for garnish.

Slice olives from pits. Dissolve gelatin in hot water; chill. When gelatin is congealed but not firm, whip until light and thick. Add mayonnaise and lemon juice and blend. Chill until thick. Add olives and fresh fruit, and mix well. Pour into large mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve on garnished salad plates. Top with additional mayonnaise if desired. Serves 8 or more.

BLACKHEADS
Blackheads go quickly by a simple method that dissolves them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist, apply with a hot wet cloth gently over the blackheads—and you will wonder where they have gone.

Let's Eat!

It's Delicious — Prepare packaged butterscotch pudding a little thinner than directions recommend, then serve it over canned cling peach halves. You'll like it!

Flash—Soup Merger Successful —Equal parts of tart tangy tomato soup and mellow pea soup blend together in taste harmony. Add a dash of seasoning if you will, then heat and eat.

Serve Cold — Arrange crisp basket-shaped lettuce leaves on salad plates and fill with a medley of sliced celery, diced cucumber and large wedges of ripe olives that have been previously tossed with a good French dressing. Serve well chilled.

Farmhouse Specialty — Blend together two parts cold milk and one part cold unstrained canned tomatoes. Slowly bring to boiling point—but do not boil. Then season and dish up pronto.

A Good Salad—Cooked beets chilled to icy cold and cut into slices, make a very fine salad ingredient. Arrange sliced beets on a bed of endive, sprinkle with finely chopped onion, chopped parsley and wedges of ripe olives. Serve with French dressing.

Cream Cheese Puffs—Company for dress tomato bouillon. Whip up cheese seasoned with celery or onion salt and a dash of Worcestershire. Plunk a spoonful atop each steaming bowl.

Viennese Supper Soup—Combine a can of condensed vegetable soup with 1½ cups of milk. Add 1 cup sliced wieners and salt to taste. When steaming hot, eat.

Hold It, Please—That water the vegetables were cooked in is chock-full of vitamins. Save it for combining with canned soups. And for creaming try evaporated milk.

Borscht Popularity—Is on the up-swing. Best when cabbage is added to the beets and beef stock. Serve it hot, topped with a blob of sour cream.

To Prepare Salted Nuts—The secret is to have only one layer of nuts in a shallow pan; little butter and low temperature. Also frequent stirring.

Safe to Munch—And able to yield a sugar content that satisfies a sweet tooth and gives energy a boost at the same time —are fruits like apples, peaches, melons, and grapes. Many nutritionists recommend seedless white grapes for the nibbler who likes a snack when she reads or knits. These food experts claim that there are fewer calories in a quarter-pound bunch of these grapes than in a thin butter wafer or a big chocolate cream.

Low in Calories—And high in filler-value are bulky raw vegetables such as celery, carrots, radishes and slivers of cabbage. Keep one or more of these in the refrigerator to tempt you with its look of crisp, frosty freshness when hunger gnaws.

For Zip—Horseradish, mustard, nutmeg and paprika, added to cress sauce give it new piquancy. A teaspoon of honey added to melted butter brings out the sweet mild flavor of tender young carrots or baby beets.

Fussed Up—Cooked vegetables also often are improved if fussed up a bit. Butter is the all-round favorite, but during rationing bacon fat became a desirable substitute and it's use should be continued. It adds flavor to vegetables such as marrow or green beans.

Indian Pudding In 1947 Style

Reminiscent of great grandmother's Indian pudding is this dessert. It's quicker to make though, because it uses crisp corn flakes instead of the cornmeal. Takes just two tablespoons of sugar—and no shortening!

INDIAN PUDDING

Two eggs; 2 tablespoons sugar; ¼ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon ginger; ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon; 2 tablespoons molasses; 2 cups milk; ⅛ teaspoon vanilla; 2 cups corn flakes.

Beat eggs slightly; stir in sugar, salt, spices and molasses. Add milk, flavoring and corn flakes. Pour into custard cups. Set cups in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 45 minutes or until custard is set. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Printed dresses re-dyed to a solid color sometimes have trouble concealing their original designs. In spite of the dyer's skill, traces of the original design may peek through the new film of color.

The ancient name of Dublin was Ashcled.

Sherry Eggnog—Two pieces of lemon rind, 1 quart milk, 6 eggs, separated, 2 whole eggs, ½ cup sugar, dash salt, 1½ cups sherry wine, ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Add lemon rind to milk; scald. Beat egg yolks and eggs slightly; add sugar and salt; mix. Slowly pour scalded milk over egg mixture, stirring constantly; cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring until mixture coats spoon. Pour through strainer into bowl immediately; chill thoroughly. Slowly add sherry wine, beating constantly. Beat 3 egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into custard mixture; sprinkle with nutmeg. Serve immediately.

Pear Honey—Eight cups (2¾ pounds) prepared pears, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup light corn syrup, 1 cup water, 1-inch piece ginger root, sliced, 2 tablespoons orange peel, thinly sliced, ¼ cup lemon peel, thinly sliced. Wash about 4½ pounds pears. Pare, core, cut into quarters and slice ¼-inch thick. Combine with sugar, corn syrup, water, ginger root, orange and lemon peel in deep kettle. Stir constantly over medium heat until sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Boil slowly, stirring frequently, until clear and thick or about 1 hour. Skim. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses. Paraffin at once.

Cauliflower-Carrot With Cottage Cheese

One and a half cups thinly sliced raw cauliflower (about 1 lb.); 1½ cups shredded raw carrots (about ½ lb.); 1 cup cottage cheese; salt and pepper to taste; mayonnaise or thick sour cream; lettuce or other greens.

Combine the cauliflower, carrots, cottage cheese, salt and pepper. Add enough mayonnaise or sour cream to moisten and toss together lightly. Serve on lettuce or other greens. Yields six servings.

Belgian Countess Hunts Grizzly Bear

MONTREAL, Que.—After facing the Nazi Gestapo in her native Belgium, the job of hunting ferocious grizzly bears in Canada's northwest is almost tame for the Countess Guyot de Misshaegen, who left Monday night for Edmonton and the northwest from the Central Station here aboard Canadian National Railways Continental Limited.

The countess is going to Edmonton by train and from there she is going to settle an account with a grizzly bear.

This is the seventh trip to Canada for the Countess de Misshaegen, who is a hunter of international fame and the author of a number of books on Canadian fauna. On her last trip to the Dominion back in 1937, a grizzly bear stole a moose she had shot to help out the winter provisions. Since she had killed the legal limit, the theft by the bear caused her considerable difficulties.

While she wants to settle the score with the grizzlies, that is not the main reason for the latest trip. So far while she has killed big game in Africa and elsewhere, including lions and wild buffalo, she has yet to add a grizzly bear to the score. She expects to be hunting several months.

The many books written by the countess include "Reminiscences of Hunting in Quebec and Maine," "Mush," "White Trapper" and "In Canadian Forests." All are based on actual experiences in the bush. Besides hunting with a rifle, she also expects to do some with a camera, especially of mountain sheep and goats. The pictures will be used to illustrate another book she intends to write. But bears cause no alarm to the Countess de Misshaegen, whose estate near Antwerp, Belgium, was right in the middle of the fighting in the late war. Her chateau was bombarded by guns, V-1 bombs fell near it, and German planes crashed in flames on it. So hunting bears is hardly worth mentioning, according to the countess.

Right way—Stand to one side of the line while your escort gets the tickets, so that you won't be in the way.

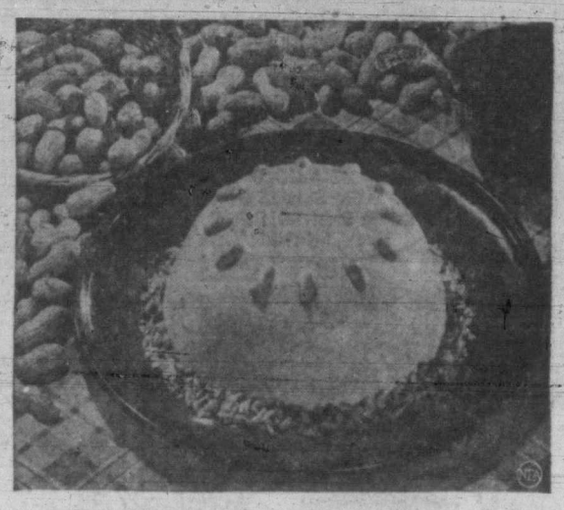
Peanuts Offer Low-Cost Protein



Something different in desserts is peanut butter Bavarian cream with sauce.

The more peanuts you get into your menus, the fewer other more costly proteins will you need. Here's a pudding that's handsome to look at, and even better to eat.

PEANUT BUTTER BAVARIAN CREAM

Serves six. One envelope plain unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1-3 cup peanut butter, 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup cream or evaporated milk, whipped, 1-3 cup sugar.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Place over boiling water until completely dissolved. Cool gradually at room temperature. Place peanut butter in bowl, add 1-3 of the milk, whip until smooth. Add salt, remaining milk, vanilla and cooled gelatin. Blend. Chill until almost thick. To whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk add sugar, blend. Fold into peanut butter mixture. Turn into large mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Garnish with roasted peanuts.

If you have time and are brimfull of hospitality, offer your friends salted Brazil nut chips. They are really a thrill.

SALTED BRAZIL NUT CHIPS

Cover 1 pound shelled Brazil nuts with cold water. Bring slowly to a boil. Simmer 2 or 3 minutes. Drain and cut into thin lengthwise slices. Spread out in shallow pan. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter. Sprinkle well with salt. Roast in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Dorothy Dix

WOMAN FINDS HOME IS PEACEFUL WHEN SHE KEEPS QUIET

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am beginning to believe that one of the biggest secrets about how to make a happy marriage is for a wife to keep her mouth shut. My husband tells me I talk too much, so I have learned to sit for hours in a room with him without uttering a word. I notice that when I keep quiet he is much more amiable himself. When he is ready to talk, he talks, and the atmosphere is nice, friendly and calm.

This tip may help some brides.

DUMB WIFE.

MARITAL SECRET

Answer: Perhaps you have discovered the secret of how to get along with a husband without friction. Certainly it would save a lot of family fights if the wife never argued, talked back, criticized her husband, nor reminded him of any of the mistakes he made.

I long have contended that one of the greatest mistakes that wives make is in telling friend husbands of their shortcomings and blunders, such as, for instance, about how much they paid for a hat, burning up the roast, or letting a peddler talk them into buying something they didn't either want or need. Of course, husband had to react by delivering a lecture to wife and telling her what a poor manager she was; whereas, all would have been peace and harmony if she had just kept silent.

One of our famous novelists has said that all the vocabulary a wife needed was just to murmur: "How wonderful!" whenever her husband spoke. So, perhaps, the dumb wife is a preferred risk in marriage.

I once knew a man who monopolized the conversation at home and who would let his wife even read because, he said, he didn't want to have her detach her mind from her thoughts when he felt like talking to her. But I never noticed that she was a particularly happy woman.

Anyway, for a wife to keep silent may make for peace in the home, but it certainly doesn't add to its gaiety. I agree with Stevenson who said that no quality was more desirable in a wife than for her to be a good gossip.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl of 18 and have been going steady for a year and a half with a boy with whom I am much in love. But here is my problem: Every time we go out for a ride in his car, he looks at all the girls he sees as we go past them. I feel that if he loves me as much as he says he does, he would look at me and not at others, and I wonder if looks at other girls when I am not with him.

What should I do?

A WORRIED STEADY.

Answer: You should try to develop a little common sense and to take life as it is, instead of trying to fit it into some romantic ideal you seem to have.

The world is full of pretty girls. Do you expect your boy friend to put on blinders so that he never sees a single one of them? No matter what he does, he is bound to work side by side, with every possible variety of women. Is he never to speak to one of them, to have any friendship with one of them, to ride on a streetcar with none of them, to buy one of them a soft drink, nor to sell one of them a bill of goods? No man can segregate himself from women these days unless he goes into a monastery, and what you have to learn is to take all of this in your stride and not worry over it, nor nag him about it.

Your idea of having your fiance gaze at you all the time is idiotic. He couldn't stand it and neither could you for a single day.

New Soapless VEL Speeds Baby's Laundry
by Frances Thompson
noted homemaking authority

Here's good news for mothers! The new soapless VEL helps speed the daily job of washing baby clothes. Why?—because it quickly lifts out dirt and if you don't use too much (rather less than you would of soap) it makes rinsing easier, leaves no soapy residue to irritate tender skin.
VEL IS MILD AND GENTLE
VEL is so mild and gentle it is safe to use for all babies' garments —napkins included. Unlike soap, VEL contains no alkali so it is kind to your hands. Its very slight perfume keeps baby clothes fresh and sweet.
VEL FOR BABY'S WOOLENS
Right from the start use VEL for baby's woolens. You'll be delighted how soft and fluffy they keep. Always wash and rinse woolens in mildly warm water. Don't rub or twist, just squeeze. A nurse who specializes in the care of infants writes, "I find VEL is the grandest thing ever for washing baby clothes. It saves so much washing and rinsing time. It leaves napkins so white and soft, woolens so fresh and fluffy I'll never go back to using soaps again."
DIFFERENT FROM SOAP
Don't expect VEL to act like soap—it is not soap but does an equally good or better job of cleansing. Always put VEL into basin, tub or sink first—then run water over it. You'll probably find that the light, foamy suds will not remain but every drop of your clear VEL solution has amazing cleaning power. VEL dissolves instantly and completely even in lukewarm water —and it's less likely to make you sneeze! Many users find that leaving clothes to soak in VEL while other work is being done makes washing with VEL even quicker and easier.

Refuses Application For Increased Costs In S.P.C.A. Action

Application by R. D. Harvey, K.C., counsel for a number of executive officers of the Victoria Branch of the S.P.C.A., for an order, that costs of action be taxed on a higher scale, with reference to a recent court action, was dismissed in judgment handed down today by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The application resulted from the suit for damages for malicious prosecution launched against the officers of the Victoria Branch of the S.P.C.A. by Sydney Pickles, Saanich farmer. The case was tried before a special jury, with the plaintiff, Mr. Pickles unsuccessful in his suit.

"I do not think that the fact that the defendants were sued because they were acting together in their various and respective positions as officers or employees of a body deriving their support from the public, or even certain powers by statute, is a ground for increasing the scale of costs on which the taxation shall proceed," Mr. Justice Macfarlane said in his judgment.

4 In Boat Report Seeing Flying Discs

Flying discs returned to the skies of southern Vancouver Island Sunday, according to a report made today by four Victorians.

Gordon Pashley, 315 Arnot, said today that while he and and three other Victorians were cruising off the northern tip of the Saanich Peninsula Sunday morning in a power boat, they all saw two flying discs. The first appeared from the west about 9.40, and appeared over the southern shores of Salt Spring Island. It disappeared into the sun. About 10 a second disc appeared, traveling in the same direction in disappearing into the sun.

Mr. Pashley said that he and his three companions all noted the discs and that they were "just like described in the papers."

He said they were traveling at terrific speed and were too far distant for him to estimate their speed.

Pickpocket Mars Opening Of Fair

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pickpocket was the star Monday afternoon while dignitaries and officials were speech-making at the official opening of the Pacific National Exposition here.

Chased by an irate citizen who claimed the "dip" had taken his watch, the pickpocket hastily clambered down through the grandstand, falling over people in his rush, and chased relentlessly by his victim.

Speechmaking stopped as officials and citizens alike watched the breathless drama.

The man got away.

Saskatchewan Govt. To Market All Clay

REGINA (CP) — Resources Minister Phelps of Saskatchewan announced Monday the provincial government had taken over marketing of all mineral clays in the province because "ceramic interests in neighboring provinces have been depleting our clay products without compensating the province for the loss."

All clay would be sold through a division of Saskatchewan Minerals, a Crown corporation which operates a brick factory and mines sodium sulphate in the province.

Resources Department officials said farmers in southwestern Saskatchewan who had sold surface rights to Alberta clay processors received less than $2 a ton for their clay, while the same producers paid more than $6 a ton for clay imported from the United States. They predicted there would be substantial increases in the price of Saskatchewan clay.

Mr. Phelps said purchase of surface rights did not carry ownership of industrial clays where mineral rights were reserved for the crown.

Say Discs Made Noise Like Rushing Wind

Jack S. Eden, 3115 Wascana Street; P. Newton, F. Claxton and R. Larsen, painters, engaged in painting a house on Rockland Avenue, at 2.15 Monday afternoon reported sighting what they claimed to be flying discs. They stopped painting to watch the discs, which they said appeared right overhead and set a course in the direction of Salt Spring Island. "They were bright, shiny objects, such as have been described before, and made a sound like rushing wind, said Eden.

School Children To Collect Shoes For British Relief

The B.C. division of the Canadian Red Cross Society has undertaken to send 100,000 pairs of children's shoes to the United Kingdom during September and October.

The shoes will not be new, but shoes which have been worn and put in good repair. New shoes would require the relinquishment of valuable clothing coupons, while used shoes may be received free of coupons. Footwear is required for children from two to 14 years of age.

The Overseas Commissioner of the Red Cross says all indications are that Britain will have to face a grim winter this year, with insufficient food and clothing. He says the sending of shoes will alleviate much suffering.

Collection of the shoes is to be a project of the Junior Red Cross of British Columbia. Every school in the province will act as a collection centre.

Elementary school children and high school students are asked to start collection of the shoes immediately and turn them in to their teacher when school opens.

The Red Cross asks that all shoes be in good repair, tied securely together and marked with a strong tag to show the size. Only shoes in good condition will be shipped.

P. J. Sinnott, writing on behalf of Victor Rawlings of C-U-Drive Ltd., has written the City Council protesting the cancellation of the license of his clients to operate from a street stand near the Post Office, which they recently purchased from another company. Mr. Sinnott claimed his clients were being discriminated against.

The DOCTOR Says:

ONE RESULT OF POOR SANITATION

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Many returning servicemen brought back amebic infection of the bowels and, as the disease was prevalent throughout the country even before the war, it is now estimated that nearly 10 per cent of the population is affected.

So-called "healthy" carriers are the most important factors in spreading amebic infection. The widespread belief that ameba may live in the bowel without causing ulcers or that a harmless strain exists is without foundation. One-third of all patients who develop amebic abscesses of the liver have never had bowel complaints.

The chief defence against amebic infection is good sanitation. Modern purification of water supplies and efficient sewage disposal protect against infections which originate in the bowel. At the last World's Fair in Chicago, the infection was spread by the failure of the water and sewage systems in the hotels, and not the carelessness of food handlers. Those who handle and prepare our food can prevent the spread of amebic infection by practicing proper sanitation.

The other means of controling the disease is to treat all patients who have active infection—including carriers—since they really have the disease inmild form. When any variety of the disease is discovered, drugs which destroy the ameba should be given at once. Emetine hydrochloride, given by hypodermic injection, destroys the ameba in the tissues while chiniofon, diodoquin, vioform, or carbarsone kill the ameba on the bowel surface. Penicillin may prove life-saving in those amebic infections in which other germs weaken the resistance of the patient and interfere with his recovery through anti-amebic treatment.

SPREAD BY FLIES

While amebic infection is more common in warm countries, it was originally discovered in Russia. The disease is spread from man to man by contaminated water or food and by flies, which carry the ameba on their legs. The ameba are destroyed by boiling the water or cooking the food.

Most serious complication of amebic infection is liver abscess. When the liver becomes tender and swollen, ameba can be found in pus removed through a needle. Beginning abscesses may be healed by drugs alone while in more advanced stages aspiration through a needle or surgical operations are also necessary.

Question: How many human diseases have been listed?

Answer: I do not know, but it must run into the thousands as there are 220 different varieties of cancer alone.

Labor M.P. Approves Australian Idea Of Mass Immigration

LONDON (CP) — A prominent Labor member of Parliament has suggested Britain should give consideration to the Australian idea that the "Dominions should take a slice of our population, old, middle-aged and young, together with an equivalent slice of our national debt."

Writing in the London Daily Telegraph, D. R. Rees-Williams, member for South Croydon and chairman of the Parliamentary Labor Party's Commonwealth and Empire group, said:

"I believe on these lines we could begin negotiations. I believe the only hope for large-scale immigration is by families with people from the same district in this country being settled in the same district in the Dominions, but not so as to become a colony too difficult to assimilate. . .

"It may be found on further examination that the difficulties are too great, but I do not think it should be condemned unheard."

OPPOSES CHURCHILL

Rees-Williams criticized Churchill's request to would-be immigrants to "stay here and fight it out."

"I should have thought if anything was obvious in this uncertain world it is the necessity for us to strive, as the government is striving, to develop and expand the resources of the Commonwealth.

"In particular for economic, political and strategic reasons it is essential to have a better balance of populations in the Commonwealth. If Australia and Canada could each be built up to 25,000,000 and New Zealand to 6,000,000 it would have the greatest effect on our trade, on the influence of the Commonwealth in world peace, and on our defence arrangements should efforts to maintain peace unhappily fail."

Fire From Sawdust Hopper Destroys 2 Vancouver Plants

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five fire-blackened buildings, containing skeletons of heat-twisted machinery, today were all that was left of two Fraser River Flats wood products firms, ravaged by a $300,000 fire late Monday night.

The blaze started when A. T. Clare, night watchman at the Viaduct Dry Kilns, was raking sawdust into a hopper, which blew back, sending flames licking at the ceiling. It quickly spread to the nearby Spruce Specialties Ltd., where damage was estimated at $200,000. Damage to the dry kiln company was set at $100,000.

No one was injured, but fire-fighters were badly hampered by the inaccessibility of hydrants, having to run reels of hose through an adjoining rail yard.

A stiff breeze fanning the flames toward the B.C. Electric gas storage tank, plus the explosion of combustible materials inside the buildings, added to the hazard.

Firemen from four halls answered the call along with four fire barges. A fire boat, moored in nearby False Creek, was unable to get close enough to shore to bring its hose into play.

Thousands of persons lining the Georgia Viaduct, almost directly over the scene, were turned back when police received word from the city engineer that the reinforced concrete structure was in imminent danger of collapsing.

Early Conclusion Seen In Ottawa For Canadian-Newfoundland Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Dicussions between representatives of Canada and Newfoundland on the possibility of the island's entry into Confederation entered their third month today amid indications that an early conclusion might be expected.

A plenary meeting of the two seven-man delegations, which inaugurated the discussions June 25, is scheduled to be held this week, possibly Thursday, and it is believed the question of a wind-up date will be settled.

The progress has been comparatively slow, reportedly because of the caution shown by both sides in fixing terms under which union might be both workable and mutually acceptable.

AVOID NEW DEMANDS

No official information has been released on the work of the sub-committee, but it was learned authoritatively that the Dominion has been attempting to avoid any situation which would set off new demands from the existing provinces.

This caution is said to have made it difficult for the represenatives to find adequate sources of revenue for the provincial government which would result from union. The Newfoundland representatives are said to feel their country's provincial government would need about $15,000,000 annually in revenue. It is estimated that taxation agreement subsidies, statutory subsidies and some special subsidies similar to those now paid the Maritime Provinces would amount only to $10,000,000 or $11,000,000.

If the sub-committee's report is acceptable to the plenary meeting, the terms likely willl be submitted to the federal cabinet for approval before the Newfoundlanders return home to report to the 45-man National Convention, elected last year to recommend future form or forms of government for the commission-controlled colony.

The convention will decide whether Confederation should be placed on the ballot paper when the Newfoundland people are asked, possibly next spring, to pick the form of administration they want.

Some Canadian officials are hopeful the terms agreed on as a possible basis of union will be released before the Newfoundland delegation returns home. However, the Canadian government will abide by any request made by the visiting delegation, which may want the release delayed until a report can be made to the National Convention.

Back To School September 2

Schoolchildren of Greater Victoria are on their last week of the long summer vacation as the opening of school next Tuesday morning looms on the horizon.

Elementary schools will open their doors at 9 Tuesday, Sept. 2, and a record enrollment in the primary grades is expected J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, said today.

In many of the schools, particularly the elementary schools of Oak Bay and Saanich, facilities will be badly crowded, he said. In several of the Saanich schools it will again be necessary to use auditoriums as classrooms. At Lampson Street School in Esquimalt the old annex has again been pressed into use to give two additional classrooms.

In the high schools throughout the area all grade nine students will report at 9 in the morning on opening day; grade 10 students will report at 10; and grade 11 and 12 students at 11. In the Junior High School, grade nine students will also report at 9 a.m. and the grade seven and eight students at 10, Mr. English announced.

Russia Rejects U.S.-British Plea To Save Petkov

LONDON (AP) — Russia has rejected a British-U.S. request for consultation on the death sentence by a Bulgarian court on Nikola Petkov, Bulgarian Agrarian Party leader, the Foreign Office announced today.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, said in a note delivered to the British charge d'affaires in Moscow that such a consultation would constitute "interference in internal Bulgarian affairs," a Foreign Office spokesman said.

This is the same contention advanced in Sofia last Friday by Soviet Lt.-Gen. Alexander Cherepanov in rejecting a demand of the United States for a review of the death sentence.

Petkov, a top-ranking anti-Communist leader, was sentenced 10 days ago to be hanged on conviction of conspiring against the Communist - dominated Fatherland Front government. He has signed an appeal.

R.A.F. Air crews of the R.A.F.'s 617 squadron, shown in new flying suits as they march from their aircraft, led by Wing Cmdr. G. D. Milne, D.F.C., will be guests.

The father made a futile attempt to find Mary, but gave up when his strength was exhausted.

Canadians Protest Mercy For Japs

WINNIPEG (CP) — Members of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, part of the Canadian force serving at Hongkong when it fell to the Japanese Christmas Day, 1940, are criticizing the action of a British general who has commuted death sentences of two Japanese army officers found guilty of the deaths of many Canadian and British prisoners of war at Hongkong.

E. L. Hubble, president of the Winnipeg Grenadiers' Associa- said Monday he had wired Ottawa asking why the death sentences of the two Japanese—Col. Isao Tokunaga, commandant of all prisoner of war camps in the Hongkong area, and Capt. Shun-Kicki Saito, medical officer—had been commuted.

Lt.-Col. G. Trist, Grenadier officer and veteran of the Hongkong camps, said the Japanese were responsible for the deaths of four Grenadiers, and described them as "savages with a thin veneer of civilization."

Col. Trist said he was considering protesting commutation of the death sentences, but did not think a personal protest or one from the Grenadiers would "do much good."

Following a plea of guilty to a charge of dangerous driving, Ralph Golar, truck driver, in police court today was fined $40 and his license suspended for one month.

Plan Increase In Initial Wheat Payment To Prairie Producers

OTTAWA (CP)—The Federal government will recommend to Parliament at the next session that the initial wheat payment to prairie producers of $1.55 a bushel be given another boost, the Canadian Press learned authoritatively today.

The extent of this increase, which will apply to No. 1 northern wheat basis Fort William, Port Arthur or Vancouver, was not immediately known, but it may extend to as much as 30 cents a bushel.

Nor was it immediately known whether the boost would apply to wheat sold for domestic consumption.

Announcement of this decision, taken by the cabinet within the last few days, will be made shortly, possibly later today.

MacKINNON TO SPEAK

The initiative in making the recommendation to Parliament likely will be taken by Trade Minister MacKinnon, the minister in charge of the Canadian Wheat Board, the government-operated body which handles Canadian wheat sales at home and abroad.

Another jump in the $1.55 initial payment automatically will boost that price above the fixed $1.55 being received from Britain for wheat purchased for the first two years of the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat contract.

High government sources said the government was able to go beyond the contract price in its payment to prairie producers because of the substantial profits piling up in the Wheat Board coffers from sales of wheat made thus far to Britain and other countries.

When the increase is approved by Parliament, it likely will be made retroactive for the whole of the 1947-48 crop year, which opened Aug. 1 this year. This would mean a substantial rebate for western farmers on wheat already delivered up to the time Parliament gives it sanction.

The original plan was to place the Wheat Board profits on sales into a five-year pool and disburse the money to the producers at the end of that period, some time after 1950.

However, the profits were becoming too substantial, it was understood, that the government felt it could increase the initial payment, thus spreading the profits over a longer period, and still make a final payment when the pooling period ends.

This will be the third jump in the initial wheat price in three years.

The first raise in that period came in July, 1946, when a 10-cent boost from $1.25 to $1.35 was announced, retroactive for the whole of the 1945-46 crop year. The price later was increased to $1.55.

$20,000,000 Hail Damage In Alberta

CALGARY (CP) — The Alberta Wheat Pool estimated Monday about $20,000,000 damage this year had been done by hailstorms in Alberta—the worst in 10 years.

J. Glen Elder, manager of the Hail Insurance Board, said, however, that only between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 will be paid in claims. Up to last week the board received 4,200 claims.

The wheat pool said approximately 600,000 acres had been hit by hail, with much of the area damaged 100 per cent. "It is estimated 25 per cent of the farmers carried enough insurance to cover the cost of labor, seed and other crop expenses."

Forty-five residents of the Kingston Street district have petitioned the City Council to refuse the application for license for a small animals hospital at 438 Kingston Street, and have asked that the lots be rezoned for apartment purposes to prevent the future erection of such a hospital. Ray E. Cranston, 401 Lampson Street, proprietor of the proposed hospital has asked permission to appear before the next meeting of the City Council on his own behalf.

'Flying Cops' Patrol Busy Aerial Beat

To fishermen and pleasure-boaters wrecked at sea, New York's "flying squad cars" often seem like heaven-sent rescuers.

When a reckless pilot "buzzed" a ball game, endangering hundreds of people, a police-green plane appeared, made an aerial "pinch" and rode herd on him back to his airport.

Thousands of autoists, streaming in and out of the city on holiday week-ends, are unaware that a police plane is spotting potential traffic jams and preventing them by radioed tips to patrol cars on the ground.

A 'FLYING SQUAD CAR' PATROLS THE CANYONS OF MANHATTAN

New York's flying cops' most spectacular rescue was made on Dec. 30, 1933, when five Navy fliers were saved from drowning after their blimp, the J-3, fell into the sea off Beach Haven, N. J., while searching for survivors of the ill-fated dirigible Akron. Bigger and faster Navy seaplanes could not land on the stormy sea, but the police amphibian, a tiny, slow-flying Savoia-Marchetti, sat down atop a wave crest, took off the blimp's crew.

One of the oldest and undoubtedly the busiest of the United States flying police organizations is New York City's Police Aviation Bureau, organized in 1929. One of its principal duties is enforcement of aviation reegulations within the city limits. When the bureau was formed there was but one airport at New York. Today there are eight and 12 seaplane bases. In addition, hundreds of small planes go up each day from dozens of small fields in the environs. The flying policemen also keep their eyes on the tremendous boat traffic in New York Harbor and for three miles out from the coast.

Cree Children Find Bicycle Greatest Wonder Of Cities

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — Airplanes, railway trains, automobiles, movies and other wonders of civilization pale before the bicycle in the estimation of 10 Cree Indian children who left this northern Manitoba town today for a white man's school farther south.

The children—four boys and six girls ranging in age from eight to 10 years—are in the care of Mrs. Marjorie Hughes-Caley, wife of an Anglican missionary in the north. Because he is known to the elder Indians as "the praying man," she is known to the children as "the praying woman."

She met them at various stations along the Hudson Bay Railway to which their parents had brought them—not without tears despite the traditional stoicism of the Indian. All four boys wept when they stepped off the train at the Pas and saw a crowd at the station. Only when they became fascinated at automobile windshield wipers in operation did their tears stop.

Of the wonders they have seen since Thursday, the airplane draws least attention because most of them have seen them in flight before. The bicycle draws most. Even their first movie Monday night failed to arouse an equivalent interest perhaps because the most fluent knows only a few words of English.

They gaze wide-eyed at many sights—the four boys refuse to let go each other's hands when they walk down The Pas streets—but a bicycle astounds them, Mrs. Hughes-Caley said. For one thing they can't understand why a bicycle stands upright when a boy or girl is riding it and why it won't when no one is seated on it.

Regularly, one of the group calls "Astum" (come back), when another ventures too far out in the street to stare after a bicycle which has sped by.

'That Brennan Girl' On Dominion Screen

At least one film studio has heeded the public's plea for a change from the practice of type casting. Republic Studio's presentation, "That Brennan Girl," unreeling for the pleased customers of the Dominion Theatre today, proves a striking contrast from the usual casting procedure.

Top star is James Dunn, who won his academy award with the role of the alcoholic father in "A Tree Grows In Brooklyn." In "That Brennan Girl," he's a daring, but sentimental young gangster.

June Duprez, pictured by most producers as an Oriental princess type despite her precedent-breaking role in "None But The Lonely Heart," plays—of all surprises—a hardboiled and rowdy mother.

The daughter, whose motherhood in turn makes June a grandmother, is Mona Freeman.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Mary Astor's resemblance to Elizabeth Taylor is one of the reasons why M-G-M ended its search for a capable actress to play the mother role in "Cynthia," drama of a small-town family, now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Astor tested for and won the much-sought, highly dramatic role from many of Hollywood's best-known actresses.

PLAZA THEATRE

Renee Asherson appearing as the demure Iris in "The Way To the Stars," now at the Plaza Theatre, through United Artists release, was only "keen" on comedy in the early years of her apprenticeship to Thespis. Nightly she regaled the Asherson household with histrionic feats in the comedy vein. On the screen, however, young Renee, brilliantly successful in dramatic roles, has had no time for comedy.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Idyllic honeymoon scenes in Eagle-Lion's new suspense-filled drama, "Bedelia," now at the Oak Bay Theatre, were photographed from the terrace of a hotel and show a panoramic view of famed Monte Carlo Bay.

The entire film of "Bedelia" was shot in the studios and the panoramic view was obtained from an enlarged photograph, 100 feet by 40 feet, which extended on two sides of the set.

Frontier Western Revives Dances

Five dances which were universally popular in the 1870's are featured in the Jules Levey frontier western, "Abilene Town," which is showing now at the Rio Theatre through United Artists release.

They were directed by Sammy Lee, who had charge of the colorful dance hall sequences in the film. Before the production was started, Lee did two months' research, assembling a choreographic history of the great plains of the west.

Ann Dvorak, who co-stars in the film with Randolph Scott, performs these dances with the assistance of a chorus of potential pin-up girls.

ROYAL THEATRE

Actor Clark Gable and director Jack Conway, whose reunion in "The Hucksters," now showing at the Royal Theatre, marks their seventh film together, are considering a possible partnership for production of outstanding stage plays in the Los Angeles area.

If their plans materialize they will lease the Wilshire-Ebell Theatre or possibly, Hollywood's El Patio Theatre and present at least two plays a year.

Universe Expansion Discussed Before Astronomy Group

Some scientists have noted distant galaxies moving further into space, and have advanced a theory that the entire universe is expanding, Dr. William Petrie told his audience Monday evening at Victoria College in the final lecture of a series entitled "Summer Evenings With the Stars." The series was arranged by the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

"During the next few years there will be much investigation into this theory, and an announcement concerning its truth will be issued which will be of interest to everyone," Dr. Petrie said.

For the most of his address, Dr Petrie explained the composure of the universe. He said the great system of the heavens consists of some 2,000,000,000 stars which are arranged in the form of a disk.

The stars are grouped in various ways, and are distinguished by astronomers as "open" or "globular" clusters. Masses of gas and dust under extremely low pressure are between the stars, Dr. Petrie said. This inter-stellar material condenses to form vast clouds. Some of these clouds are dark and obscure the background stars, while other clouds are bright with reflected light from hot stars.

Dr. Alex. McKellar of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, president of the Victoria society, also addressed the meeting. He expressed his gratitude at the large number of persons who had turned out for the lectures.

Roland Winters Takes Over As Screen's New Charlie Chan

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It is common knowledge that anyone who chooses the acting life faces a gypsy existence and a future as uncertain as that of a boy soprano. But here is one exception.

He is Roland Winters, who just started work as Charlie Chan III. Although his contract with Monogram calls for five years of screen sleuthing, he probably has selected a life career. No other actor can make that statement.

Both of the previous Charlies died in the saddle. First was Warner Oland, a round-faced Swede. His death handed the magnifying glass to Sidney Toler, who died last February after making his 31st Chan. A wide search for a successor finally uncovered Winters, a radio actor who has appeared on such shows as Henry Morgan's, Kay Kyser's and the Aldrich Family.

I caught glimpses and words from Winters between takes of his first Chan. He is a six-foot, 41-year-old Bostonian who looks in his make-up just as the omniscient Oriental should. I asked him if he was content to accept a life sentence as Charlie.

WANTS OTHER ROLES

"I should be very happy to play him for the next 40 years," he said, "provided I can do other things as well. Actually I do not look like him without make-up. When I came in this morning, the assistant director gave me the brush-off until he realized who I was. I was happy he did, because I realized not everyone would think of me as Charlie Chan."

Winters has played in only one other picture, "13 Rue Madeleine." He was discovered for Charlie through a test he made for "The Big Clock," a role which the British actor Charles Laughton later played. He is also being considered for another role which Laughton probably will get. But Roland should worry—Laughton can only play his roles once, and then he has to find another. Roland will always have Charlie.

Critics Pay Tribute To Ellington's Work

There is no name on the list of the world's greatest in music today that has not paid tribute to the genius of Duke Ellington, who will appear at the Bay Street Armories tonight. Among them have been Constant Lambert, leading London music critic and composer; Percy Grainger, head of the music department at New York University; Leopold Stokowski, Lauritz Melchoir, Delius, Jose Iturbi and a host of others.

But the compliment to his music that the Duke values most highly amongst all the others is paid him by the renowned George Gershwin in one of Oscar Levant's favorite recollections of his friend.

Levant, himself a great admirer of Ellington, tells of the many hours that Gershwin spent in the company of Ellington's music, sometimes playing Ellington compositions at his piano.

Film To Feature Salmon Fishing On Vancouver Island

Vancouver Island's tyee salmon is attracting much attention these days, and not just by anxious fishermen. Two camera groups are now at Campbell River getting action pictures of the famous sporting fish which will give the island much publicity all across the continent.

The film will feature Campbell River, but will also show scenes at Port Alberni and Brentwood.

N.B. By-election Scheduled Oct. 20

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal by-election in New Brunswick's York-Sunbury riding has been set for Oct. 20. The seat was left vacant by the death two weeks ago of Hon. H. F. G. Bridges, federal Fisheries Minister.

The date was announced by Prime Minister King after a cabinet meeting Monday.

Although won by the Liberal Party in the 1945 general election, the seat was for many years held by the late Hon. R. B. Hanson, former Progressive Conservative House Leader, who first was elected in 1921.

The York-Sudbury seat is the only remaining vacancy in the 245-seat Commons.

Present standing in the House is: Liberal, 126; Progressive Conservatives, 67; C.C.F., 28; Social Credit, 13; Independent, 4; Bloc Populaire, 2; Independent Liberal, 1; Independent Progressive Conservative, 1; People's C.C.F., 1; and Union des Electeurs, 1.

Foul Bay Advance To Boxla Finals By Whipping Jokers

Foul Bay made it two in a row over Jokers in their best-of-three semifinal series for the right to enter the finals of the senior box lacrosse loop playoffs last night, defeating the Woolsey-coached men 12 to 8. Foul Bay will now mark time until the other final berth is decided between Canadian Legion and J.B.A.A.

Tonight at Stevenson Park Legion and Bays will engage in a replay of their Saturday night, 12 to 12, stalemate. With J.B.A.A. holding a one-game edge in the series, the defending champion Vets must win to stay in the playoff picture. If a third and deciding game is necessary it will be played Thursday.

For three periods last night Jokers played the fast moving district squad on even terms only to have a momentary relapse in the final period when Foul Bay rapped in four straight goals without a reply to decide the issue.

With Bill Andrews turning in a smart game between the pipes and the team playing a good checking game Jokers took a 3 to 2 lead in the first quarter. Foul Bay reversed the tables in the second period to knot the count at 5 to 5 at the half.

DEADLOCK SCORE

Foul Bay again outscored the losers by the odd goal in five in the third canto to lead 8 to 7 entering the final 15 minutes. Jokers rallied to tie the count at 8 to 8 but a determined onslaught that netted them four goals in four minutes put Foul Bay well to the fore and the game ended with Doug Bray's proteges holding that margin.

Tommy Halbert with two goals and three assists paced the scoring attack for Foul Bay. Chungranes, Fleming and Shubrooke also notched a pair for the winners. Leading scorers for Jokers were Vic Sage and Ralph Temple, each tallying two goals.

Teams and scorers follow:

Jokers—Andrews, Rhodes 1, Ovcharik 1, Thompson, Thomas, Sage 2, Douglas 1, McLennan, Temple 2, Pellow 1, Knowles, Harding, Stewart, Scotney.

Foul Bay—Thompson, Fleming 2, Chungranes 2, Stewart 1, Halbert 2, Irwin 1, Druce, Walker, L. Scott 1, Shubrooke 2, Thomas, Ludbrooke, Gower 1, W. Scott.

Three stars of the game were Earle Macdonald for Burrards, who tallied six goals, Johnny Cavallin, also Burrards, who racked up six assists, and Bert Bryant of Salmonbellies, who scored two goals and two assists.

Other players in the limelight were Harry Buchanan with three goals and two assists for Burrards and Ken Featherstone of Salmonbellies, with four goals and one assist.

Canadian Legion Win Second Baseball Title

In the most thrill-packed game of the season, Sandy Paul's Canadian Legion baseball squad added further laurels to its string by scoring the winning run in the top of the ninth to edge Gar Taylor's Eagles, 5 to 4, last night, to retain the prized Rithet Cup, emblematic of amateur baseball supremacy in the city, for the second straight year.

Harry Barber, the league's longest ball hitter, drove home the winning tally. Mickey Smith led off with a single, stole second, and took third on a wild pitch. Barber poled a mighty clout to deep right field that Doug Malcolm had difficulty in finding. Barber crossed the plate with a home run, but was called out at second for failing to touch the bag. However, the winning run had counted, and that was all Legionnaires needed.

Lloyd Cann gained credit for the win, his second of the series, giving up eight hits, fanning four and passing none, before giving up to Bill Prior in the last of the ninth. Prior put the birdmen down, one, two, three in dramatic style to protect Cann's victory. Stan Davies was tagged with the loss, giving up seven hits, taking four on strikes, and walking six. Art Worth took over for Eagles in the ninth, giving up one hit—Barber's game-busting clout.

LONG HOME RUN

Eagles scored three times in the last of the third on a pair of hits, two errors, and a sacrifice. In the fourth, big Jack Walker started the mighty Legion machine rolling when he banged out the longest home run of the year, which ended up at the clubhouse in right field. Walker received a good hand when he crossed the plate ahead of the throw. Legion's second fourth-inning tally scored when Davies threw the ball to left field in an attempt to nip Rookie Wright at third.

Another pair in the top of the fifth put vets ahead, 4 to 3, but the feathered tribe evened it up in their half, Vic Dale lashing out a double and scoring on Wally Thomson's bobble. That marked the end of the scoring till the ninth when Legion captured the silverware.

Vic Dale of Eagles led the stickers for the evening with three hits in five trips, while Barber and Walker of Legion, and Jimmy Morrison of Eagles each picked up two for four.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Legion	5	8	5
Eagles	4	8	2

Batteries—Cann, W. Prior (9) and Smith; Davies, Worth (9) and Harper.

Ted Williams Moves Into American Batting Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Bidding for his third batting title and his first since 1942, Ted Williams, slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder, moved in front in the American League hitting parade last week with a mark of .337.

Williams joined Harry Walker, the National League's leading swatter, who maintained his terrific season-long hitting by increasing his average to .352.

Williams, who won the crown in 1941 and 1942, slammed nine hits in 17 trips to the plate to take a seven-point lead over Cleveland's Dale Mitchell, who climbed eight points to a runner-up .330, through games of Sunday, Aug. 24.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians dropped six points to a fourth-place tie with Luke Appling of Chicago White Sox at .327, a point behind third-place Barney McCosky of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Walker added five points to lift him 33 points above Pete Reiser of Brooklyn, current runner-up. Reiser, fourth a week ago, raised his mark to .319. Augie Galan, veteran Cincinnati outfielder, slumped from second to fifth with .310. Phil Cavarretta of Chicago, at .316, and Walker Cooper of the New York Giants, at .313, were third and fourth, respectively.

ALTHOUGH directors of the Western International League are solidly against any form of playoff in the northwest ball circuit, they are getting one this season whether they like it or not. Every series the next two weeks is practically a playoff as five clubs race to the finish line, each with a chance to pick off the bunting. It is doubtful if the league will get another race so close in years. From the standpoint of crowd appeal the finish is just what the doctor ordered. Every team, with a chance to win the pennant, is going to play before packed stands. A league attendance record is assured, it's just a question of how much over the million mark the season's total will hit.

THOSE two umpires, so popular in Victoria, Messrs. Abbey and Nenezich hit another high in Spokane Sunday night when they awarded a game to Salem on forfeit. Guess the Spokane players couldn't stomach the pair any more than members of the Athletics along with local fans. From now on these two are at least assured of warmish receptions in two towns of the circuit, Victoria and Spokane. Just give them long enough and they will be unwelcome all over. They're just a bad combination. Fortunately president Bob Abel was present at the Spokane fiasco and could see for himself how his favorites get into such jams.

BRANCH RICKEY, rated baseball's number one strategist, pulled off another smart deal over the week-end, when he signed Dan Bankhead, rated number one negro pitcher of the Negro American League. The big fellow will bolster a somewhat shaky Brooklyn mound staff and, if he comes through with any of the class he has been showing in Memphis, Tenn., he'll be a big box-office attraction in the world series, that is, of course, if the Dodgers win the National League.

THE SHREWD Rickey probably has more on his mind than Bankhead's direct value in the won-lost column. Bankhead will be the first negro pitcher ever to reach the major leagues. Rickey already has prepared the way with Jackie Robinson, the first negro in organized ball in modern times. At the moment Robinson is batting a respectable .299, leads the National League in stolen bases (22) and is second in the runs department with 105 to Johnny Mize's 108.

Penalty Goal Wins For Winnipeg Club

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Scottish turned back Edmonton Legion 2 to 1 here Monday in the second game of a best-of-three series in the Dominion soccer quarter-finals and won the right to meet the eastern champions in the Canadian semi-finals. Scottish had taken the first game Saturday night, 5 to 1.

More than 3,000 fans saw the Scots storm from behind in closing minutes to edge the greatly-improved Legion squad. With the score 1 to 1 and only five minutes remaining in the game, referee Percy Gillatt ruled Dave McIntosh, Legion fullback, handled the ball while trying to clear. Midge Pennington gave goalkeeper Bill Ness no chance to save his waist-high drive from the penalty shot.

Esquimalt Play At Ladysmith Tonight

Esquimalt Meat Market will travel to Ladysmith tonight for the fifth game of their best-of-seven series with Travelers Hotel for the Island senior A softball championship.

Leading the series three games to one, Esquimalt need but one more victory to capture the honors. George Kinch will likely hurl for the locals. Game time is 6.30.

Athletics Look Bad In One-Sided Defeat

Cricket scoring returned to Athletic Park last night as the league-leading Bremerton Bluejackets swamped Victoria Athletics 17 to 5 to open their important three-game Western International League baseball series. Defeat dropped the Athletics into fifth position, half a game back of Vancouver Capilanos who edged Tacoma 5 to 4. It was the first time the A's have been out of the first division, except for a brief period in midseason.

In dropping their fourth straight game the Victoria club looked bad. They failed to get sharp pitching from starter Joe Blankenship, who was charged with his ninth defeat of the season and Bob Jensen, who took over in the eighth, once again was bothered with control trouble. At that, neither pitcher received the best of support. Catcher Vic Mastro had a particularly bad night, being charged with two errors on wild throws to second, each one costing a run. Third sacker Babe Jensen's boot in the eighth, when Bremerton chased eight runners across the slab, cost brother Bob seven unearned runs.

Some added excitement was provided late in the game when the ball and scoreboard boys elected to stage a walkoff strike. The youngsters were attempting to force the management to meet their demands for an increase in wages. Business manager Reg Patterson had the young "strikers" escorted out of the park by a police officer and announced today he intended to place men in the jobs. "The youngsfers who pulled the strike are through and will remain out of the park for the remainder of the baseball season," Patterson said.

MAUL HITS WELL

On the offensive side of the picture last night rookie first baseman Allan Maul of Bremerton was the big noise. In collecting four hits in six trips he poled a triple and two doubles and drove in three runs. Third baseman Jimmy Estrada picked up a home run and a double and also contributed three runs batted in.

Although he had to be rescued by Hub Kittle in the seventh when he lost his control to give up three walks and a single, big right-hander John Marshall had the A's on his hip all evening. With nearly every pitch a curve ball, slow or fast, Marshall picked up nine strikeouts and hurled shutout ball for four innings. In his relief trick Kettle was nicked for two hits and no runs.

Tonight's game will see Jim Arnold get the starting assignment for Victoria with knuckle ball specialist Jim Lowman slated to work for Bremerton.

SPOKANE WINS

Spokane nosed out Salem 6 to 5 to stay a half game behind Bremerton while Wenatchee shellacked Yakima 19 to 5 to come within two and a half games of evacuating their cellar position.

Spokane, playing without the services of manager Ben Geraghty and their hard-hitting outfielder George Schmees, had to call on veteran Levi McCormack for an eight-inning single to squeeze past the Oregonians who had bunched three hits with a pair of walks and two Indian errors for all their runs in the fourth. It was Bill Werbowski's 15th win of the year, against seven defeats.

Wenatchee's Joe Vivalda also posted his 15th triumph of the year as the Chiefs, winning their third straight from Yakima, climbed to their highest level since early May. A three-run homer by Les Dalrymple was the night's big hit.

Short scores follow:

Geraghty, Schmees Rejoin Spokane Club

SPOKANE (AP)—Western International League president Robert Abel said today that Spokane manager Ben Geraghty and outfielder George Schmees, suspended Sunday for their part in an argument which resulted in a forfeited game to Salem, will be permitted to rejoin the Indians Wednesday.

Abel said the two players and first baseman Herb Gorman will be fined "an amount to be determined later." Gorman was not suspended.

George Gulyanics (centre) misses a pass from Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears as Charley Trippi (left) and Arnold Tucker of the All-Stars close in, at night game in Chicago. The All-Stars won the football game, 16 to 0.

Red Munger Proves Deadly Night Hurler

If George (Red) Munger, unpredictable St. Louis right-hander, could pitch as well in the daytime as he does at night, the Cardinals today would be leading the National League instead of trailing Brooklyn Dodgers by six games.

Munger, who boasts a season record of 11 victories and four defeats, has been almost unbeatable under the lights. In 10 starts at night, he has won nine and lost only one.

In daylight games he's dropped three games in five decisions and failed to go the route in nine of 11 starts.

He gained his ninth night victory last night when he pitched a five-hitter as the Cards defeated the Braves in Boston, 5 to 2. Stan Musial's 17th homer with one man aboard gave the Red Birds their first two runs against Warren Spahn in the first inning.

The Cards, however, failed to gain ground on the Dodgers, who won a free-hitting game from Pittsburgh Pirates at Ebbets' Field 11 to 10.

The Dodgers, leading 11 to 5 after six innings, were forced to stave off a desperate Buc rally in the ninth.

Billy Jurges slammed a 10th-inning home run with one man on to enable Chicago Cubs to defeat New York Giants 9 to 7. Six homers were hit in all, Andy Pafko, Phil Cavarretta and Bob Scheffing chipping for the Cubs in addition to Jurges and Bobby Thomson and Willard Marshall who hit into the seats for the Giants.

197TH MOUND WIN

Cincinnati Reds whipped the Phillies in Philadelphia 5 to 3 in a night game. Bucky Walters posted his seventh win of the season and 197th of his major league career.

Chicago White Sox nipped New York Yankees in Chicago, 4 to 3, while Cleveland Indians defeated Boston Red Sox, 10 to 8.

Philadelphia Athletics whipped Detroit Tigers, 7 to 5, to move within one game of the third place Bengals and Sam Zoldak won a pitchers' battle from Rae Scarborough as St. Louis Browns won a 1 to 0 thriller from Washington Senators.

Angels In Last Ditch Stand With Surprising Portland

This is make-or-break week for the Los Angeles Angels and Portland Beavers.

The Angels, doddering in the Coast League lead now trimmed to 3½ games, come home to open a nine-game series today against the Beavers, the loop's fastest-traveling contender.

If the Angels can't settle down and hit a winning stride (they've dropped seven of their last nine), they may be hard pressed to maintain their lead, even though all the rest of their games are against second division Sacramento and San Diego.

Jim Turner's Beavers, who have captured 21 of their last 27 games, must stay hot to keep alive their pennant hopes. Tied for third place with Oakland, five games back, the Beavers have yet to play 18 hard games with the Oaks, plus some 14 with sometimes troublesome Hollywood.

Hollywood opened its 10-game set at San Diego last night with a 10 to 2 win that moved the Stars into a sixth place tie with the Padres. Joe Krakauskas twirled a five-hitter while his mates smacked out 14 blows, including Tony Lupien's 20th homer.

Hunter Smith's pointer, "Mountie," captured the open dog stake against 12 competitors in the Victoria Gun Club's successful dog trials held in the Hillcrest area.

Victorians also won second and third place honors with "Susie," owned by D. Wakeman, placing second, and "Roger," owned by J. Thow, finishing third. Both are pointers.

Novice class winner was a German pointer, "Fritz," owned by Crawford MacDonald, taking third.

"Fritz" made the only perfect point in the open class, although unable to flush any birds.

Flushing dog stakes were won by a cocker spaniel, "Saxon," owned by Maurice Grossman.

Pat Patterson Finds Range To Jump Average 11 Points

Handcuffed in five trips to the plate by Bremerton Bluejackets last night Vic Mastro saw his heavy hitting of the Vancouver series go for naught in his bid to up his season's batting mark during the past week as he fell off to .371 from a week's high of .379 to just one point better than the mark he held one week ago.

Pat Patterson, with 14 hits in 33 trips, made the biggest individual gain of any of the Athletics boosting his mark 11 to .283. Johnny Cavalli picked up three points to hit the .260 mark, while Leo Righetti added seven points to his average and now boasts a .257 figure.

Temporarily failing in his bid to set a new home-run mark or equal the record of 40 set by Bill Barisoff last year, Jack Harshman remained at the 35 figure during the week but boosted his runs-batted-in total to 133, still the league's best. Harshman also paces the circuit in runs scored with 127 and total bases with 316.

Bill White holds two league firsts, one with 190 hits and the other with 44 doubles. Babe Jensen is still within striking distance of Harshman for the runs-batted-in title with 120 to his credit and within seven doubles of White's league mark.

In the private fued between Cavalli and Righetti the shortstop has a bulge of 84 to 79 in the R.B.I. column and a three-point edge in batting.

Averages including last night's game with Bremerton follow:

Mercy Disposes Of Yakima Club To Californians

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Frederick Mercy, Jr., owner of the Yakima Stars Baseball Club of the Western International League said Monday that the team has been sold to three Californians, including Vernon Johnson, former Oakland pitcher in the Pacific Coast League.

Mercy did not disclose terms of the contract and said the sale is effective at the close of the current season, subject to approval by the league's board of directors. It had been rumored Mercy was asking $40,000 for the franchise.

The other purchasers are Richard Richards, Palo Alto, who negotiated the deal, and Monte Peyl.

Richards, manager of a semi-pro team in the San Francisco area, said "I definitely intend to keep the Western International League franchise in Yakima."

The Stars are currently in seventh place in the league, 24½ games out of first place.

Marino, Monaghan Fight For Title

LONDON (AP) — Jack Solomons, London promoter, said Monday that Dado Marino of Honolulu, and Rinty Monaghan of Ireland had been signed to fight for the vacant world flyweight boxing championship here Oct. 20.

Marino and his Irish rival were named as logical contenders for the title when Jackie Paterson of Scotland collapsed shortly before the weigh-in for his title bout with the Hawaiian July 16.

Paterson then was relieved of the title by the British board in control of boxing.

APOSTOLI WINS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fred Apostoli, onetime middleweight title claimant, scored a unanimous decision over Ruben Shank of Denver in a 10-round fight before a sell-out crowd Monday night. The San Franciscan weighed 160 and Shank 157.

The two made it a slugging brawl.

Australians Take Special Interest In Tennis School

NEW YORK (AP)—The Australians have little hope of winning back the Davis Cup in the matches to be played at Forest Hills this week-end, but they are planning strongly for the future and have no intention of letting the United States develop a tennis monopoly.

Both Roy Cowling, non-playing captain of the Aussies, and Jack Crawford, former star who seems to be along as a sort of official observer, admit they are making a close study of the working of the American "Junior Davis Cup" system, which is supposed to provide the United States with an unending stream of cup stars, like an assembly line.

The 10 junior cuppers are working out at Forest Hills this week alongside the big shots who will defend the trophy. They are watching Jack Kramer, Ted Schroeder and the others slam the ball around, and in between times are receiving special instruction.

"We've got to develop something of the kind if we're going to play you people on even terms," Cowling observed.

"Of course, such a system can't be depended upon to produce the big stars, such as your Jack Kramer. They just come along every so often, naturally. But it can help out a lot in between the big fellows."

New Fears Hang Over Kootenays As 'Sons' Renew Fierce Threats

SHOREACRES, B.C. (CP) — Threat of a fresh outbreak of violence hung over this troubled West Kootenay district today as radical members of the Sons of Freedom openly promised "stronger action" and terrified Orthodox Doukhobors issued another appeal for protection from the frenzied fire raiders.

Adding yet another fantastic note to the incredible reign of terror that has resulted in an orgy of arson and violence, was a report that a "foreign power" was helping plan the outbreaks.

All Monday night and again today small groups of the fanatical Sons of Freedom roamed restlessly from one settlement to another, angered and embittered by stiff jail sentences imposed on 11 members of their group in the Nelson police court Monday. They were charged in connection with the recent outbreak of arson that has destroyed scores of schools and communal buildings.

TALK OF MARCH

"We aren't beaten yet, Sons spokesmen said commenting on the sentences. They threatened stronger action and a possible "protest march on Nelson."

The Orthodox statement issued by George S. Soukoreoff, chairman of the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ, and the union's handsome young secretary John Verigin, reiterated earlier charges that insufficient police protection was being provided for the Doukhobors.

At the same time the union released the text of correspondence exchanged with Attorney-General Gordon Wismer calling for aid from the fanatics. The correspondence showed that the orthodox group sent a letter and three separate wires to the Attorney-General seeking aid. A reply from Mr. Wismer dated Aug. 20 said the wires had been "referred to the commissioner of provincial police."

The public appeal expressed the willingness of the orthodox members to co-operate fully with authorities in halting the rampaging bands of fire bugs. It also "deplored" the tendency of authorities to fail to differentiate between the fanatics and other Doukhobors.

11 GIVEN SENTENCES

In the Nelson police court Monday 10 men and a woman were sentenced to jail terms ranging from six months to one year on charges arising from recent arson outbreaks. Three were sentenced to six months at hard labor, while the remainder were ordered to post bonds ranging from $1,000 to $2,000, with jail terms ranging from nine to 12 months imposed in default of payment.

The hearings were held in an office of the Nelson provincial police headquarters instead of the usual court room. Police said the smaller room was used to minimize the danger of a demonstration of friends of the prisoners. There was no sign of a demonstration during, or immediately following the trial. Only three men pleaded not guilty.

Canada Trust To Have New Quarters

The Canada Trust Company will move its offices from present quarters on Bastion Street and 616 View Street to new offices being constructed on the ground floor of the Churchill Hotel on Government Street, G. E. G. Whittaker, manager, said today.

Conversion, for which a building permit was taken out, will cost $15,000. Birley, Wade and Stockdill are the architects and Luney Brothers and Hamilton are the contractors.

The Canada Trust Company hopes to be able to move by the end of this year, and combine their two offices in the larger and more efficient quarters. They will occupy the entire ground floor with the exception of the part occupied by Johns' Jewelery story.

Hart Studies Report On Vancouver Strike

Premier John Hart, as Acting Labor Minister in the absence of Hon. George S. Pearson, today received the report of M. H. McGeough, government conciliator, who has been probing the strike of steelworkers in five Vancouver plants.

It is expected an announcement of government policy would be made later today after Premier Hart had conferred with James Thomson, deputy minister of labor for the province.

No details of the contents of the report were disclosed immediately.

Unusually Large Seepage Of Gas Blamed For Blast

A report of H. C. Hughes, senior inspector of metalliferous mines for the provincial government, showed today that an unusually large seepage of methane gas from holes in the Pacific Eastern mines was responsible for the explosion which last week took the lives of three workmen.

"The occurrence of methane in metal mines and especially its occurrence in dangerous quantities is so rare as to be practically unknown and it is, therefore, a certainty that any mine crew or management anywhere would have been unaware that the set-up for a potential explosion existed and would have taken no more precautions than in the case of Pacific Eastern," Mr. Hughes said.

It is understood that so far as the provincial mines department is concerned the report of Mr. Hughes closes the investigations into the blast.

Mr. Hughes said that all evidence indicates that the direct cause of the explosion was a spark, or arc, from the battery locomotive in the mine.

While small amounts of methane had issued from some of the diamond drill holes in the mine, Mr. Hughes said these quantities were too small to be detected by a safety lamp and the analysis of air samples taken at the collar of the holes gave results so far below the danger point that they could be disregarded as a source of explosive gas.

The report said that on Aug. 15 two diamond drill holes numbered 41 and 42 were completed and on Aug. 16 the work of dismantling and removing the underground equipment was started. The mine had been closed down at 3.30 on Aug. 16 and was not re-entered until 8 a.m. on Aug. 18, when the explosion occurred.

"Diamond drill hole No. 42 was examined after the explosion and was found to be emitting a far greater quantity of gas than had ever been observed before," said Mr. Hughes in his report. "Tests with a safety lamp showed the characteristic reaction of methane and a measurement of the volume gave a quantity which would result in the accumulation of an explosive mixture over the weekend shut-down. . . .

"The extra volume of gas from diamond drill hole No. 42 was not thought to be serious and was not reported by either the management or crew. As the mine had been entirely free from gas Saturday no danger was anticipated in entering the workings Monday morning although the ventilation system had been shut for a period of about 40 hours. This procedure is standard practice and would have been done in any mine in Canada."

Seamen Freed Of Desertion Charge

H. W. Kelley of Vancouver was found not guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in police court today of deserting his ship, Ss. Seaboard Queen, at Holtenau, Kiel Canal, Germany, contrary to the Canadian Shipping Act. Similar charges against two other seamen, D. J. Stewart and K. O'Keefe were dismissed by the magistrate.

Capt. John Norman Stark, master of the freighter, logged charges of desertion against the trio when the three seamen were reported missing aboard the ship on June 1. The vessel anchored on the roadstead off Holtenau, sailed for Finland without the three men who were later escorted aboard the ship on its return journey to Canada.

Magistrate Hall said that there was no evidence to show that the accused had gone ashore with intention of deserting as the three men had left their belongings aboard the ship.

"The evidence shows that the men went ashore to get liquor, and tried to rejoin their ship," he said. "However, they could have been charged with being absent without leave."

Question arose as to whether the court had the right to forfeit the seamen's pay to make up for the short-hand money paid to members of the crew who replaced the three missing men.

The matter will be argued in court tomorrow.

4 U.S. Submarines To Visit Victoria After Arctic Tests

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A United States submarine task force was en route today to Victoria and Seattle after weeks of manoeuvres near — and at one time below — the Arctic ice pack along the northern rim of Alaska. From Seattle they will go to San Pedro, Calif.

The navy kept secret results of the cruise, which took the submarines Boarfish, Caiman, Chub and Cabezon and the tender Nereus through Bering Strait to Point Barrow.

Watching the manoeuvres was Rear-Admiral A. R. McCann, head of the submarine force of the U.S. Pacific Fleet who joined the unit at Adak in the Aleutians after preliminary phases along the island chain and northward to the Pribilofs.

From there the task force moved into Bering Strait knifing through the icy waters near the international line and within sight of the Siberian shoreline. Beyond the narrow passage the unit fanned out into the Arctic Ocean; testing equipment specially designed for northern operations.

Navy officials in charge said on their arrival here that one of the submarines had submerged below the unbroken ice pack for 30 minutes, but gave no further details.

They dismissed questions about the cruise with the remark that it was merely "routine."

B.C. Apple Crop Estimates Boosted By 56,400 Boxes

The provincial agriculture department today revised its estimate of British Columbia's 1947 apple crop, increasing the July 12 estimate by 56,400 boxes.

The latest estimate, which put the total pick for the harvest at 7,839,800 boxes, was made Aug. 23. Last year 9,892,070 boxes of apples were harvested in the province, representing the greatest apple pick in history.

The pick for Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands remains unchanged since the previous estimate—a harvest of 24,000 boxes being anticipated. Early varieties of apples on the island are already being harvested, the Duchess crop beginning to taper off and the Gravensteins sizing and some being picked. The department said the Wealthies were sizing but color was poor and later varieties were developing.

Last year this area produced 25,916 boxes of apples.

The lower mainland pick is also estimated the same now as in July, a harvest of 70,000 boxes being anticipated. Last year this area produced 90,000 boxes.

The department has cut 4,000 boxes off its estimate of the apple harvest for the Kootenay and Arrow Lakes region, the 1947 harvest being estimated at 74,500 boxes, compared with 113,693 harvested in 1946.

Estimated crop for the Grand Forks district this year is 74,500 boxes, an increase of 12,000 boxes over the July estimate. Creston now is expected to produce 423,000—30,400 more boxes than had been estimated in July.

The Okanagan district apple pick is now estimated at 7,103,800 boxes compared with the estimate of 7,083,800 boxes estimated in July.

2 Burnings Reported In 'Douk' Districts

B.C. police headquarters here reported that during the early hours of this morning two groups of farm buildings at Tarrys in the Doubhobor area some distance from Shoreacres in the Kootenay district of B.C. were burned.

The brief account to headquarters said that the barn and hay shed of Peter S. Konkin and the barn, chicken house and tool shed of William J. Sookeroff, were burned to the ground.

The latest burnings occurred in the areas where Doukhobor terrorism has been raging for several weeks.

Use For 'Frog Masks'

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—The "frog masks" used during the war by divers placing depth charges and mines in enemy waters are being used this summer by Buffalo youths for spearing pickerel under water and retrieving lost fishing tackle. Sold as surplus war goods, the masks enable divers to remain under for 1½ minutes without discomfort.

Campaign Aims To Increase Travel By Sightseeing Buses

Plans for a full-scale campaign to encourage travel were revealed this morning in an interview with Harry J. Dooley, president of the Associated Gray Line Sight-Seeing Companies of North America, who is staying at the Empress Hotel.

"We intend to urge people to travel to as many places as possible. It is to the individual's benefit that he move around his own and other countries. Travel improves his outlook on life and gives him a better understanding of other people and their problems," Mr. Dooley said.

"The best way we can find to make people travel conscious is to get them to a nice place like Victoria and show them around. Travel gets in a person's blood, so if a person likes his initial trip, he will want to see other places."

Mr. Dooley said Victoria has the possibilities of becoming one of the greatest vacation cities on the continent. He noted the climatic conditions here are such to continue the tourist season throughout the 12 months of the year.

"There are many other nice places where you can only go in July or August," he continued.

BOOM PERIOD

Mr. Dooley stated all cities are at present enjoying a boom period as far as the tourist industry is concerned. He said it was probable this boom would continue for five years before any decline is noted.

Dealing with Gray Line facilities in Victoria, Mr. Dooley said this city was one of the best equipped links in the whole chain across the continent. He said, however, that it was planned to bring newer and better equipment into service here before next summer.

"Another undertaking we are planning is to urge the abolition of transportation taxes in both Canada and the United States," Mr. Dooley said. "Our feeling is that transportation is too much of a necessity to be taxed as a luxury. It was put on during the war to discourage travel and it is now time for it to come off."

The Gray Line is now operating sight-seeing buses in the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Alaska, Cuba and Mexico. Victoria, Vancouver, Banff, Lake Louise, Winnipeg, Toronto, Quebec and Montreal are the Canadian cities now being served.

"It is our intention to open companies in Ottawa, Halifax and St. John by next summer," Mr. Dooley said.

During the war, Mr. Dooley served as a colonel in the transportation corps of the U.S. Army. For two years he was in charge of highway transport in the United Kingdom.

Traveling with Mr. Dooley is A. August Whenck, vice-president of the association; G. Walter Rodine, general western passenger-traffic manager of the North Pacific Railway, and Col. Edward J. Finnigan, northwest passenger agent for the Pennsylvania Railway.

Community Chest Campaign Oct. 20

The Community Chest campaign will open in Victoria on Oct. 20 this year, with the biggest objective in its history, J. Denis Hagar, campaign chairman, informed Mayor Percy George today.

Mr. Hagar explained that the reorganization of various agencies, and increased work, would call for higher budgets.

Mayor George was asked to become an honorary patron for the campaign and to give it support.

To Hold Open House On Cruiser Ontario

Open house will be held aboard the Canadian cruiser Ontario September 6 and 7, following her return to Esquimalt Sept. 5 from sea trials, Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., Commanding Officer Pacific Coast, announced today.

H.M.C.S. Ontario recently underwent extensive refit for her new role in Canada's peacetime navy. Further trials have yet to be sailed, after which she will undertake training cruises for naval personnel.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer has informed the City Council he will recommend the appointment of William L. Ostler, police court clerk, as justice of the peace to the executive council. He also stated he will consider the appointment of P. J. Sinnott and J. Alan Baker as deputy police magistrates when the City Council informs him of the salary it is proposed to pay.

Fire May Shut Down Small Lumber Operators Temporarily

PORT ALBERNI (Special) — While little official comment was made here today on the effect of the costly all-night fire which destroyed the government assembly wharf here, Monday night, general opinion is that a heavy blow has been struck shipping facilities.

Current belief is that some of the smaller lumber operators may be temporarily shut down and that exports from the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company mill and the Alberni Plywoods Ltd., will be severely hampered.

"Some small operators cannot operate one day without the assembly wharf," said A. Fleming, superintendent of the burned dock.

"It's enough to break them," said Mayor W. C. Hamilton.

At present the A.P.L. Companies have dockage for one ship, whereas the government wharf berthed two. As much as 1,300,000 board feet of lumber have been loaded on one ship at the assembly wharf by A.P.L. mill. The assembly wharf alone handled an average of one ship a month.

A.P.L. officials contacted, recognized an "inconvenient situation," but stated the companies themselves would get along under difficulties by some means.

When asked about the possibility of using scows for loading vessels in mid-stream, Mr. Fleming said scows were hard to get and in short supply. The A.P.L. companies possess about six scows, he said.

20 Areas May Vote On Liquor Questions

A score of applications seeking plebiscites on sale of beer by the glass, establishment of a government liquor store and licensing of veterans' clubs are awaiting action by the provincial government today.

These applications have been checked and found in order. Further applications are pending.

If the plebiscites are ordered by the provincial government they will represent the first time since 1939 that citizens of British Columbia have expressed opinions on the sale of beer by the glass and other liquor distribution questions.

The checked applications are as follows: From Trites School, Eburne, Aldergrove, Steveston, Cloverdale and South Westminster polling divisions in the Delta electoral district; from Deroche, Mission City, Alvin and Haney polling divisions in Dewdney electoral district; from Little Fort, North Kamloops and Raft River polling divisions in the Kamloops electoral district; from nine polling divisions and the West Vancouver area in North Vancouver electoral district; Trout Lake polling division in Revelstoke electoral district; two polling divisions near Sidney in the Saanich electoral district; Keremeos polling division in the Similkameeen electoral district; Peachland polling division in the South Okanagan electoral district; Fort St. John polling division in the Peace River electoral district, and Grandview polling divisions in the Vancouver-Burrard electoral district.

The vote, if ordered, in Fort St. John will be on whether or not citizens wish to have a government liquor store established there. The voters of the Grandview district in Vancouver-Burrard electorial district will express opinions on whether or not they wish to have veterans clubs established there. All the other applications seek plebiscites on the proposed sale of beer by the glass.

An application to be in order requires signatures of 35 per cent of the residents of a polling division. A 55 per cent majority is required to secure government action.

Duncan Native Sons Reinstitute Post

Post No. 10 of the Native Sons of British Columbia at Duncan was re-instituted Monday night.

The post, which has been inactive for years, was re-instituted at a meeting of the grand post executive.

Temporary officers, under the chief factorship of Magnus Colvin, will conduct the affairs of the post until the annual election in October.

At the meeting representatives were present from posts at Victoria, Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Vancouver. Grand Factor J. E. L. Muir of Nanaimo, and Grand Secretary Vernon Stewart of Nanaimo presided.

Truck Overturns

A light truck was damaged and two occupants received mild lacerations in an accident which occurred 19 miles from Victoria on the Sooke Road early Monday night, according to provincial police.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mowat, 847 Craigflower Road, were bruised and received cuts when the vehicle overturned. A third occupant, Robert Smith, escaped injury, police said.

Constable Jack Lockie of the British Columbia police, attended the scene.

Arctic Supply Situation Poor Because Ships Held Up By Ice

EDMONTON (CP) — Arctic ship crews battling unusually bad ice and weather conditions in the Arctic seaway north of the Canadian mainland have only one thing in mind these days—they hope to make at least one epic voyage before the early freeze sets in for another situation.

Northern transportation officials here say the situation has left the Arctic supply condition in "poor state" and that while Arctic seamen are working against ice and storms to beat the freeze-up with their hauls, the Eskimos along the coast already are talking of an early freeze.

Regardless of conditions and predictions, the crews are hoping they'll be as lucky as the crew of one vessel which recently saw a happy ending to a dangerous situation.

Several weeks age the Roman Catholic Oblate mission schooner Lady of the Lourdes left Tuktoyaktuk, northeast of Aklavik, for Coppermine in Coronation Gulf, about a 700-mile voyage east. Like the Hudson's Bay Company's Fort Ross and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol ship St. Roch, the "Lady" ran into ice about halfway to Coppermine.

The heavier Fort Ross and St. Roch plowed their respective ways stolidly through the ice, but the little "Lady"—she weighs only about 35 tons—found herself forced to take another route eastward because ice took command of the situation and inserted itself under the "Lady's" hull.

At first it was only a small floe, but large floes slid under the first one and soon she was securely "grounded" on ice.

HAULED OFF ICE

The vessel got on top of the ice about 200 miles west of Coppermine. The ice drift carried her 180 miles eastward in three days. And, when she was in Coronation Gulf, north of Coppermine, the Port Ross was able to get close enough to pass a hawser and haul her off the ice into water again.

Undamaged, the Lady completed her voyage to Coppermine in the normal fashion, following the lead of the Fort Ross.

The Lady supplies a network of Arctic missions that serves Eskimos, Indians and white people with comfort for spirit and body alike.

When the three vessels reached Coppermine, they were just beginning their work. They had only completed the first part of the first voyage of the season.

From Coppermine the St. Roch was scheduled to attempt a voyage to Winter Harbor on the southern shore of Melville Island, about 600 air miles north of Coppermine, where Canada is establishing a new polar weather station.

The St. Roch visited Winter Harbor once before, in 1944, when she was traversing the Northwest Passage from east to west. This will be her first attempt to reach the post from the western Arctic.

Meanwhile, the Fort Ross and the Lady will be fighting ice packs on further supply voyages, less glamorous perhaps but no less important than that of the St. Roch.

Part of the supplies the Fort Ross left at Coppermine will be shipped on to Bathurst Inlet aboard the Nigalik, a "Bay" schooner of about 80 tons. The Nigalik, frozen in last fall a few miles out of Coppermine, broke out of her icy prison and reached Coppermine Aug. 19. After the trip to Bathurst, she will go to Tuktuk and return with a load for interior posts.

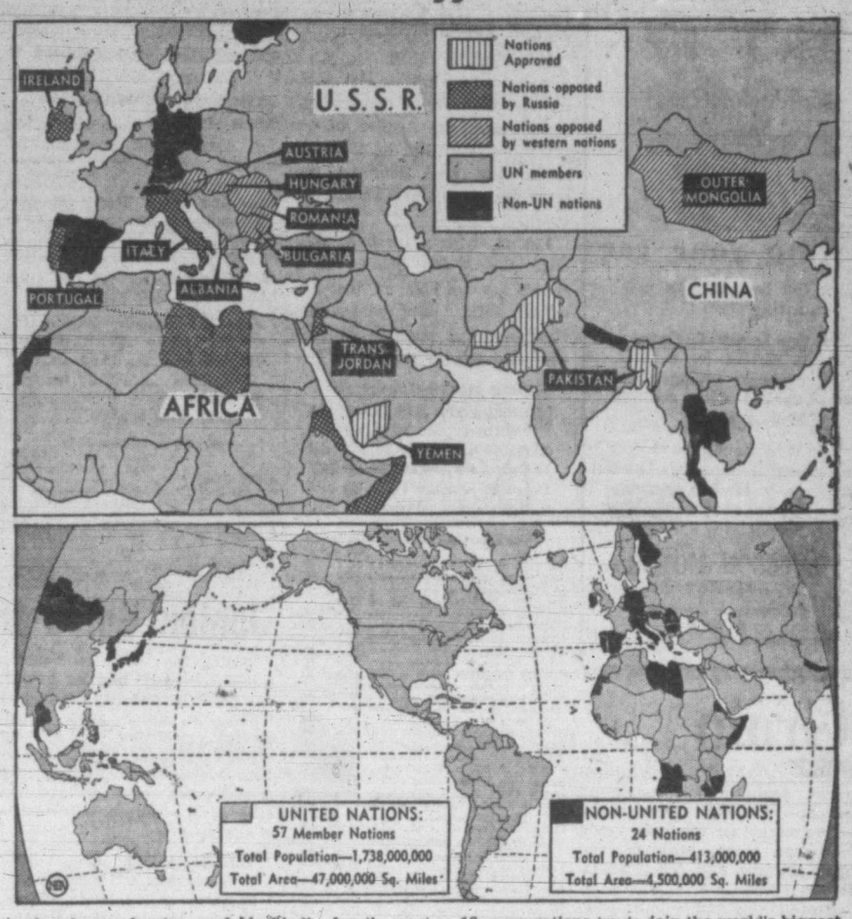
Two In, 10 Out In World's Biggest Club



It's thumbs up for two and blackballs for the rest as 12 more nations try to join the world's biggest club—the United Nations. The Arab kingdom of Yemen and the new dominion of Pakistan are the only approved applicants as Russia or western nations veto the rest (top map). World map shows how the new total of 57 United Nations embrace 90 per cent of the world's total area and 88 per cent of the population.

200 Fish Caught By Gyro Members

A week-end fishing derby and pleasure cruise in the Strait of Georgia by the Victoria Gyro Club proved profitable to the 30 members who took part, it was announced at the club's Monday meeting.

Every member of the fishing party landed at least one fish. In all, nearly 200 grilse and salmon were netted by the service clubmen.

The party left Victoria Saturday noon and returned to the city Sunday evening. They were conveyed to the fishing grounds in seven launches, owned by club members. During the cruise they landed at North Pender Island, where they were the guests of Don Martyn.

The derby and cruise is an annual event on the club's calendar.

Unexpected Training

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The British cruiser Kenya, cutting short a planned five-day visit to Juneau, was to sail today for Vancouver, B.C. Capt. Lennox Boswell said midshipmen of the Kenya had accepted an invitation from a U.S. navy task unit to take a training cruise on four submarines which left here for Victoria and Seattle.

Visit Of Mission To Pay Off Later

KELOWNA (CP)—W. A. McAdam, British Columbia Agent-General in London, accompanying 40 United Kingdom timbermen on a tour of B.C., said here Monday that "this bringing together of producer and importer is going to stand us in good stead in the days to come when the sellers' market has disappeared and we shall again be facing stern competition from Scandinavia and the Baltic."

"This is the largest and most important body of importers of our woods that has ever visited the province," he said. "It forms a delegation completely representative of the importing side of the U.K. trade."

Delegates were to see for themselves the whole technique of production, from the logging camp to the sawmill and from sawmill to dockside.

A film of the tour will be shown to the United Kingdom trade on the party's return.

"It will not only enhance the popularity of our woods in the U.K. market but have a far-reaching effect on trading relations in the future," Mr. McAdam said.

Illegal Operations Traced By Police

MONTREAL (CP) — Informed police sources said today that "many" Montreal physicians, some prominent in the medical profession, are under daily watch suspected of performing illegal operations. The number of suspects was not revealed.

It was learned some physicians are receiving as much as $1,000 for an operation.

Although there have been few arrests recently, the police homicide squad, under Det.-Capt. George Allain, is reported pressing its investigations, aided by two married women members of the force.

The women constables, who brought about several arrests earlier in the year, are said to have personal contacts with some suspects by posing as patients.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rye futures prices again scored maximum gains of 10 cents in a moderately active market on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, with demand from shippers and American interests evident.

Profit-taking and hedging pressure were well absorbed, and there was little for sale after the limits had been reached. Since Aug. 16, October rye has advanced 6¼ cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Selling tapered in today's stock market and assorted leaders shifted to the recovery side but many issues were unable to shake off minus signs.

Canadian issues were shaky at noon. Canadian Pacific added ⅛, McIntyre and Hiram Walker each dropped ¼. On the curb, Lake Shore also slipped ¼.

Greek Liberals' Leader Insists On Chief Office

ATHENS (AP)—US efforts to mediate the deadlock in the Greek governmental crisis failed today when Themistokles Sophoulis, leader of the main branch of the Liberal Party, insisted that he become premier.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Premier-Designate, had been trying for three days to form a new government. Sophoulis, 86, had been one of the main obstacles to success because of his steadfast refusal to enter a coalition cabinet to solve the current crisis.

United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh had conferred with Sophoulis during the morning.

Sampet Takes List, But Not Sinking

PORT ALBERNI (Special) — This morning about 11 seamen went back aboard Ss. Sampet, British freighter, severely burned in the government assembly wharf fire here Monday, and, aided by the Port Alberni Volunteer Fire Department which was called to the ship again at 8.30 this morning, fought smoldering fires in the hold.

The ship has a considerable list but is in little danger of sinking. From the main deck up the ship is completely gutted. Many of her plates are buckled but she is taking little water.

U.S. Couple Safe In Winnipeg After Spectacular Rescue

WINNIPEG (CP) — Technical Sgt. J. H. Nelles, 30, of the United States army engineers, and his wife rested in Winnipeg today after one of the most spectacular—and lucky—air rescues in the annals of western Canadian flying.

The light plane in which the Gary, Ind., serviceman and Mrs. Nelles took off from Chicago for his station at Churchill, Man., was forced down Friday at Water Hen Lake, 192 miles north of Winnipeg, when it ran into a storm.

From then until late Sunday, when an R.C.A.F. search craft sighted the upside-down plane and summoned a Dakota which dropped supplies, the Nelles, neither of whom was injured, lived a "pretty miserable existence." They had only a blanket and their Airedale to keep them warm.

"I think if it hadn't been for the dog, we'd have frozen to death," Nelles said.

A short time later, another plane brought three Canadian army officers, Capt. Ross Willoughby, a medical officer; Capt. L. G. d'Artois and Lieut. R. O. Henry and the two latter parachuted to the Nelles' aid. Capt. Willoughby remained on the plane when it was discovered the two Americans did not require medical aid.

"I just can't say enough for those paratroopers," Nelles said in Winnipeg. "They moved us to higher ground about 1,500 yards away from the swamp in which we had cracked up. They had sleeping-bags and built shelters out of the parachutes and they cooked us a hot meal. And furthermore, they stayed awake and kept the fire going and let us sleep all (Sunday) night."

An R.C.A.F. Norseman landed on the lake Monday, took off the four and the dog and transferred them to a Dakota, which brought them to Winnipeg Monday night.

R.C.A.F. officers said it was lucky they had spotted Nelles' plane. They were making a last sweep of the Water Hen Lake area before searching elsewhere when LAC. J. E. Cook of Winnipeg saw what looked like a "yellow pencil" to the rear of the search craft. When the pilot circled back it proved to be the missing plane.

Bulgaria Ratifies Peace Pact Called 'Hard And Unjust'

SOFIA (AP)—Bulgaria's peace treaty with the Allies, although termed "hard and unjust" by government supporters and opposition speakers, was approved unanimously by Parliament Monday.

The speakers in the debate preceding the vote on the treaty claimed it was unfair in not recognizing Bulgaria as a "co-belligerant" against Germany, in imposing heavy reparations and in failing to recognize Bulgaria's claim to western Thrace and an outlet to the Aegean Sea.

The speakers expressed hope that "co-operation with the Allied nations and adherence to the United Nations' charter" might result in removal of some of the treaty's "injustices."

After approval of the pact, President Vassil Kolarov paid tribute to the Soviet Union, the Ukraine, White Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yukoslavia, who had been sympathetic, he said, with Bulgaria's cause during the treaty drafting.

Earlier, reliable sources said the National Fatherland Front, the Communist-dominated coalition controlling the government, planned to ban Nikola Petkov's Agrarian Party, chief opposition, from Parliament.

The Agrarians now hold 61 of the 465 parliament seats. Their leader, Petkov, last week was convicted of plotting against the government and was sentenced to death. He has signed an appeal against his sentence.

Financier, Actress Top-Listed Earners Of Year In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The heavyweight corporation salary of 1945 in the United States went to theatre financier Charles P. Skouras, the Treasury Department reported Monday night, while Betty Grable's $208,000 was the top figure among women.

Skouras received $568,143 to lead the list of more than 800 persons who took more than $75,000 in pay from corporations in 1945 or in business fiscal years ending in 1946.

He nosed out another California entry—Charles H. Strub, executive vice-president of the Los Angeles Turf Club Inc., who earned $541,412.

Third money went to Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines Corporation, New York, $425,548.

Hollywood was sparsely represented among the top money-winners, by past years' standards, but producer-director Thomas Leo ("Going My Way") McCarey was fifth on the list with $355,426.61 from Paramount. He was first last year with earnings of $1,113,035.

Miss Grable's compensation from Twentieth Century-Fox didn't match last year's Winnipeg-born actress Deanna Durbin, $310,728. However, the shapely Miss Grable's band-leading husband, Harry James, added $121,667 to the family income from the same payroll.

Miss Durbin was not on the list this year, for her company, Universal, did not report its salary list in time. Neither did Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Warner Brothers and numerous other of this country's top firms, including the United States Steel Corporation.

Bing Crosby turned up with a trifling $175,000 from Paramount, but this didn't cover any earnings from radio and baseball or losses from horses.

William Randolph Hearst, publisher, was paid $200,000 in equal parts by Hearst Consolidated Publications Inc. and Hearst Publications Inc., Los Angeles. He heads both companies.

Bigger Payment For Wheat Welcome News On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP) — Any increase now made in the initial payment of $1.35 a bushel to prairie wheat producers would be "very welcome" in view of the short crops in prospect, W. J. Parker, president of Manitoba Pool Elevators, said today.

He was commenting on an Ottawa dispatch saying the federal government will recommend to Parliament at the next session that the initial payment be boosted again.

Such a payment now would obviate the necessity of back adjustments on previous crops.

One agricultural official said the question the announcement would raise among farmers was, "When is the clearing house coming up?"

Farmers were becoming no younger and would not approve the postponement of final settlement, he said. They would object to the "indefiniteness of everything." They also would want to know their position regarding income tax.

TO AVOID BORROWING

EDMONTON (CP) — C. J. Stimpfle, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, said here today that an increase in the initial wheat payment to prairie producers would be "good news, especially for the farmers who have a short crop."

"What we tried to get them to do," said the A.F.U. president, "was to increase the payment by 25 cents for the 1946 crop and for the present crop. Because of the crops that were hailed out and dried out, that would save many farmers from going to the bank and borrowing money to carry on."

Moratorium For Crop-Failure Areas

REGINA (CP)—Attorney-General Corman of Saskatchewan said today the Saskatchewan government would prevent foreclosure of farms in crop-failure areas by a moratorium to prevent collection of either interest or principal from this year's crop returns.

Although a Supreme Court decision declared ultra vires of the province provisions of the Farm Security Act automatically reducing debt principle in crop-failure years, Mr. Corman said the province was prepared to protect farmers where returns averaged less than $6 per sown acre.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

CHINA 'CHOW' COSTLY

WHENEVER two or more housewives—or, for that matter, two anybodies—get together these days, chief topic of conversation is almost sure to be the difficulty of making both ends in the domestic budget meet.

And even if one end is only to be meat and the other short commons, the dollar still doesn't go very far.

But, as a housewife, I must say I am glad it has fallen to my lot to live in Canada and not in China in this year of Our Lord, 1947.

For, although I knew that inflation was pretty much in the saddle over there, I didn't know quite how bad it was until the other day.

RETAIL PRICES

ONE OF MY FRIENDS, who lived in China for many years prior to the war, showed me a copy of the North China Daily News, published in Shanghai.

And because I always am interested in newspapers, especially from another country, I read it avidly. What interested me more than anything else was the list of retail prices of food and other commodities.

At first glance, I thought that the compositor who set the type had misplaced his decimal points, so fantastic were
